Trail Of Mail Truck Bandits Leads To Akron, O.

Hunt Akron, O. Gang For Mail Truck Hold-ups

Believe Gang That Robbed Butler Truck Committed Warren Hold-up

ONE MAIL SACK FOUND NEAR AKRON

Pennsylvania State Police Join Gang Hunt With Other Officers

(International News Service)

AKRON, O., April 26—Hoping to link the $100,000 Warren mail truck robbery with a $50,000 mail robbery at Butler, Pa., Aug. 24, 1934, and to trace both holdups to an Akron gang R. V. Kelley, Philadelphia postal inspector, and Samuel May, Pennsylvania state patrolman, came to Akron today.

May said the Warren stickup was "very similar" to the Butler robbery when three men held up a mail truck and escaped with $50,000 in currency and negotiable paper. The three bandits have not been apprehended.

Find Mail Pouch

Meanwhile, Summit county officials today began dragging one of the Portage lakes near here after two boys discovered a United States mail pouch containing more than $50,000 in registered bonds, said to be one of the four pouches taken in the holdup of a mail truck at Waren Wednesday.

The pouch, with one side slashed, was found floating near the shore or North Reservoir, one of the group of lakes. Three packages of bonds were found in the pouch and later a bundle of liberty bonds was found in the South End of the lake.

Discovery of the pouch indicated that the total loot obtained in the Warren robbery was more than $120,000. One pouch was known to have contained $72,000 in currency being taken from the Cleveland federal reserve bank to help meet the Republic Steep Corp. payroll.

Deputy sheriffs believed the pouch was thrown from an automobile as it sped along Portage lakes drive skirting the small lake.

Butler, Pa., April 26—That the $72,000 mail truck robbery in Warren, O., was engineered by the same bandits who robbed a mail truck of $50,000 here last August was the belief expressed today by county police. Both robberies, they said, were conducted in a similar manner.

Youth Who Shot Parents To Get Test For Sanity

Unless Proven Insane, Howard Pierson Will Be Prosecuted To Limit

STATEMENT MADE BY YOUTH IN CASE

Believed Parents Had Discriminated Against Him, Prosecutor Is Told

(International News Service)

AUSTIN, Tex., April 26.—Unless proven insane, authorities today said Howard Pierson, 20, would be prosecuted "to the limit" as the confessed murderer of his parents, Justice William A. Pierson of the state supreme court and Mrs. Pierson.

District Attorney James P. Hart said he planned to demand the electric chair for young Pierson, whom Dr. Joe Wooten, friend of the Pierson family, described as a sufferer from dementia praecox.

Prosecutor Hart, after questioning the youth for hours, declared he had obtained a written statement from young Pierson describing the weird double murder executed on a lonely stretch of country road 15 miles west of here. Contents of the statement were held secret.

New York State's NRA Act Is Held As Unconstitutional

(International News Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., April 26—The court of appeals, by a vote of 4 to 3 today held New York state's NRA act to be unconstitutional.

Anticipating such a finding, which upholds a previous decision by the appellate division, the 1935 legislature passed a bill amending the NRA act also known as the Schackno act, to eliminate some of the unconstitutional features complained of by the lower court.

That bill is now before Governor Lehman who is expected to sign it in view of today's ruling.

EASTERN STANDARD FOR SOUTH SIDE

The organization includes most of the merchants on the South Side. Others not members of the Board of Trade are expected to observe eastern standard time also.

ICKES WILL DIRECT U. S. WORKS BOARD

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Secretary of Interior Ickes heads the president's "round table" on the new public works fund allotments, in virtual charge of the $4,000,000,000 which will be spent to remove 3,500,000 persons from the relief rolls to gainful jobs.

The group will be formerly known as the "works allotment division" a new organization.

Headed by Ickes, this division will receive the various projects from the group directed by Frank C. Walker, after they have been studied and reported on. The division will then pass on projects to be recommended to the president. It will have the final say except that of President Roosevelt himself.

A feature of the make-up of the new division is that it includes a director of relief who will be some other official than Harry L. Hopkins, FERA head. Mr. Roosevelt expects to clarify this phase today.

Says State May Not Be Able To Get Much Of U. S. Work Fund

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 26.—Pennsylvania may be unable to obtain much of the $4,880,000,000 federal works fund because of its state constitutional limitation on borrowing, Governor George H. Earle asserted today.

Stating that "there is a prospect that the monies for purposes other than highway construction will be given as loans instead of grants," the executive told the intercollegiate conference on government delegates meeting here:

"If that happens there is great danger that the state will be unable to obtain much of the federal works relief money because of the constitutional limitation on its borrowing capacity.

May Have To Repay Funds

"Although the exact method to be used in disbursing the federal work relief monies awaits the decision of Washington, it is understood that the funds advanced for the projects of our state department, excepting highways, may have to be repaid. Since the state cannot make financial commitments for longer than two years, it would have to pay back the total amount within that time, which is obviously out of the question, or borrow, which is impossible under the constitution."

The governor's statement came shortly after State Relief Director Robert L. Johnson asserted "probably not more than one-half the 450,000 families on relief in Pennsylvania would obtain employment under the huge federal program. This unanticipated statement was believed to have greatly altered the status of the impasse between the governor and the Republican senate majority on new taxation."

Historic Capitol In Oregon Burns

Report Estimated Damage Of $2,500,000 To Ancient Capitol At Salem, Ore.

(International News Service)

SALEM, Ore., April 26.—Oregon's historic capitol building erected in 1878 at a cost of $750,000, was nothing but a flame-scarred shell today.

Floyd McMullen of Hermiston, Ore., student-fireman from Willamette University, was struck on the head by a falling cornice while fighting the blaze. He died a few minutes later in a hospital.

Damage was estimated as high as $2,500,000.

Bonds Saved

Firemen succeeded in saving $3,000,000 in bonds which were removed from the structure before the heavy copper plated dome crashed into the basement. The bonds were transferred to a bank.

Flames swept from a small records room blaze into the interior of the aged frame last night to destroy the interior of the structure and leave walls wobbling.

Archives of the state were in a vault in the basement, but officials did not know whether the vault was fireproof. Tax records valued at $1,000,000 to the state were declared lost.

Controller In Answer Denies Sum Due Gilkey

Claims Contract He Had With Commissioners Was Not Properly Filed

CANNOT RECOVER FOR VIADUCT PLANS

An answer to a mandamus brought by Civil Engineer Thomas A. Gilkey against County Controller R. C. McCaslin, to compel the payment of a bill for $5,605 for drawing plans for the proposed Croton avenue viaduct, was filed by the controller through his attorney, Orville Brown, at the prothonotary's office today.

The answer admits that there was a contract between the county commissioners and Gilkey relating to work done on roads and bridges, but denies that this contract was binding on the county for the reason that it was not immediately filled with the county controller, as required by act of assembly.

The controller denies that $800 was paid on the viaduct account under the said contract. There was paid to Gilkey $1,015, in which the $800 was included for engineering services upon the recommendation of the county commissioners, but at this time the controller did not know of any special contract for

The full committee from the state legislature is composed of Representatives William J. Eroe, Jr., New Castle; William G. Smith, of Grove City; L. Norman Dilley, of Greenville; James Kelso, of North Beaver township; and William J. Klinger, of Butler.

First Witness

Attorney E. F. G. Harper was the first witness examined this morning. Mr. Harper was called in regard to the matter of renting properties.

He stated that he has a number of people occupying homes in which he is interested and that he had ordered one tenant out on the first of April. On April 2, he said he received word that the Relief Board would pay $12.67 per month on the man's rent, beginning with March 11, 1935, until further notice. On April 10, he received a notice, dated April 5, stating that the tenant had been transferred to Work Relief, and the payment of rent would be discontinued as of March 25. He received no rent payment whatever, but had not asked for any he said. He only offered the information to show that there did not seem to be any co-ordination in the rent department.

Wilson Is Called

W. Leslie Wilson, acting director of the R. W. D. in Lawrence County was next called. He was asked how many employes there were in his department, and stated that there were 31. Of this number 15 were working under the chief time keeper, Dave Harris.

Host Of Volunteers And C.C.C. Workers Battle Forest Fires

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 26. Defying the efforts of several thousand volunteer fire fighters and CCC workers, a roaring forest fire, fanned by high winds sweeping in from the sea, today was raging along a 10-mile front near Somers Point.

While farmers and their families in isolated regions of the dry pine woods gathered their possessions and prepared to flee, the workers set back-fires and dug ditches to halt the sweep of the blaze. State fire wardens droned over the inferno in airplanes signaling directions.

Pungent smoke, rising hundreds of feet into the sky, cast a pall over this city and other seashore resorts.

Meanwhile, at least a score of other woods fires menaced life and property in other sections of the Southern New Jersey pines.

New York, April 26.—Hundreds of youths from CCC camps were fighting a series of forest fires, which might assume serious proportions on Long Island today.

No explanation as to the origin of the fires, which are raging in various portions of Suffolk and Nassau counties, could be given by fire wardens.

One of the more serious blazes which had worked its way toward Bay Shore, seriously threatened the estate of H. Robert Guggenheim. Throughout the night and early morning ditches were being dug to deflect the course of the blaze.

Near Babylon a fire whisked along rapidly behind a northeast wind and burned down a pickle factory on the edge of the village of Deer Park before it was put under control.

Southeast of the town of Setauket the flames had charred a swath about five miles wide and eight miles long through a new growth of scrub oak and pitch pine.

The dead were Paul Wharton, 25, dress designer for Jean Harlow and other film notables, and William M. Howard, who had been sought as a suspect in the Wharton slaying.

Henry E. Bolte, 39, law professor at the University of California at Los Angeles, was critically wounded, and believed dying after he had been shot down by Howard, who then ended his own life.

Police believed Howard mistook Bolte for a witness to the Wharton killing and sought to still his victim's lips with death before he ended his own life.

GOVERNOR SIGNS NUMBER OF BILLS

One New Law Hits Kidnaping

Another Link In Legal Setup For Handling "Snatch Racketeers"

BANKING LAW ALSO AMENDED

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 26.—A law authorizing the trial of kidnapers in any county of Pennsylvania through which their victim is taken while held captive went into the statute books today.

Sponsored by Senator Joseph Trainer, Philadelphia, the bill extending the jurisdiction of courts in kidnaping cases was signed by Gov. George H. Earle to weld another link in the state's legal setup for handling "snatch racketeers."

The executive also signed the Andrews Administration bill amending the banking law to permit state banks to include preferred stock in computing capital. The measure brings state legislation into line with federal law to help facilitate consumption of loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Other Bills Signed

Other bills signed by Governor Earle were:

Stevens, transferring the management of the Conrad Weiser Memorial park in Berks county from the historical commission to the Department of Forests and Waters.

Stevens, transferring the management of the Drake Well Memorial park from the historical commission to the Department of Forests and Waters and authorizing the state to acquire without cost additional land to extend the park boundaries.

McGinnis, increasing the jurisdiction of the Allegheny county court from cases involving $1,500 or less to cases involving $2,500 or less.

The youth, who insisted he had killed his parents "for revenge", was said by Dr. Wooten to be the victim of hallucinations that his parents had discriminated against him. He had wanted to become "a great scientist," the physician said, but declared that his parents "wouldn't send me to school."

"He believed his parents favored a brother and sister,' 'Dr. Wooten said. "He held an imaginary resentment which was based on his mistaken impression they had discriminated against him.

"His failures in school he blamed on his parents. He wanted to obtain his father's insurance money to resume his studies."

When shown the bodies of his parents in the morgue Pierson showed his first sign of emotion. He blurted: "This is terrible."

TWO ARE DEAD IN HOLLYWOOD AFTER SHOOTING

slaying of the dress designer, Howard turned his gun on himself and died almost instantly.

Police said they identified Howard as the man sought in the Wharton killing from pictures taken from the apartment of the dress designer, who also was known as Paul Ivar.

Wharton was shot while his invalid step-mother lay helpless in an adjoining room.

Entertained Two Men

Mrs. Wharton told police her foster son entertained two men for dinner. She did not see the guests, but she heard scraps of conversation, she said, and declared she recognized the voice of one as a man known to her only as "Billie," former chauffeur.

After she heard the three shots which ended Wharton's life, the paralysis-stricken woman, by a superhuman effort succeeded in reaching the death scene. She saw a stranger in the apartment hallway and in answer to her demand that he identify himself, the man, described as a "large blonde," fled after crying, "I'm one of Paul's friends."

Dies In Her Arms

As she reached the side of her dying foster son—it was the first time she had walked since stricken with paralysis—Wharton was vainly attempting to drag himself to a telephone, gasping, "office, office."

He had been shot three times and died just as Mrs. Wharton cradled his head in her arms.

The assailant had leaped 20 feet to the ground from a window in the apartment. The stranger, whom Mrs. Wharton saw in the room also leaped from a window.

In linking Howard with the killing of Wharton as well as the attempt on Bolte's life, police said a small roadster, similar to one which was seen racing from the Wharton apartment shortly after the killing, was found parked in the shadowed street near where Howard ended his own life.

At a receiving hospital Bolte denied he was the third man at the Wharton apartment at the time of the tragedy. He told officers he had attended a party with law students at a downtown cafe and was preparing to enter his apartment when shot from behind.

the viaduct, and supposed that the amount was a payment on the usual per diem basis.

It is denied by the controller that the amount claimed by Gilkey is due him. The controller says that it is his duty to determine if services have been performed under legal authority and if proper service has been rendered for the amount asked. In this capacity as controller he acts in a discretionary and not in a ministerial capacity.

Authority for erection of a viaduct was given by a grand jury and the court in 1926, but the project was abandoned when the North street bridge was built. The original authorization was before a former board of commissioners. It is held that the present board had no authority to build, or contract for drawing plans for a viaduct.

Make Arrests After Warnings

Police Visit Six Places Last Night And Make Arrests

Lieutenant of Police J. Ed. Elder, Police Matron Minnie McKibben and Patrolman Cecil Suber last night arrested six proprietresses of alleged disorderly houses and also one inmate in each of the establishments.

Four of the proprietresses and the six inmates placed forfeits for a hearing before Mayor Charles Mayne today. The four proprietresses each put up $25.00 and each of the six inmates, $10.00.

When the mayor held court today none of the 10 appeared and the forfeits were confiscated. However, two proprietresses, Hazel Walker and Margaret Gray, the latter, colored, faced His Honor.

He informed the Walker woman she had been given a warning a week ago and fined her $25.00. The Gray woman did not receive a warning it was reported and this, coupled to sickness in her home, brought her freedom.

The proprietresses who put up forfeits and did not appear were: Maggie Moore, Bridge street; Sadie DeHuff, Reiber street; Josephine Jacobs, Race street and Helen Miller, Moravia street.

One week ago Chief of Police John F. Haven sent a warning through police to operators of alleged disorderly houses they would have to get rid of inmates and cease operations. When the warning was not obeyed he ordered raids, he said.

Today in police court, Mayor Mayne stated that, since he has been in office he has not permitted disorderly houses to flourish and that he does not intend to let them start now.

After the list is approved, the names are turned back to the employment office and notices are sent from there to the men to report for work at a certain time and place. The men work in units of three days each.

Next to Mr. Wilson is L. C. Blackwell, staff engineer, and various clerks and typists.

He said the R. W. D. had an engineering corps, and that they worked with the engineers of the sponsors in developing the projects. This was then approved by a resident engineer here for the state, after which the figures, plans and specifications were sent to the state and the project was approved or disapproved and work was ordered started.

He was asked specifically about the Cascade street project. He stated that the original cost for this project had been placed at $93,-141.30, of which the city was to furnish $4,023.50 for tools and materials. Cascade street is 10,050 feet in length.

He stated that the cost per mile of this project would be greater than similar work done by a private contractor as no machinery was used in this project, it being the idea to employ as many men as possible in hand labor, which had been done. A private contractor would use a fourth as many men on a similar job.

Supplement Of $36,240

He said that a supplement of $36,240 was later added to this job to complete it. This was to come from relief projects funds.

He said the $4,023.50 of the city's share was divided as follows: Service of city engineer, $52.50; tools, $1,200; rental of roller, $720; first aid kits, $6; limestone screenings, 2,045 tons at $1 per ton, $2,045.

The crushed stone base was secured from the quarries of the R. W. D. and from the cement plant dump nearby. The project was set up to employ 400 men, he stated. The cost of tools being figured at $3 per man, which seemed to be a standard used. He felt the city might have spent more than this amount. The tools could be used on other projects, he said.

He said the type of road was a good one, and that he understood it was to be made waterbound by the city applying a coat of amesite to the top.

He was asked if he had any suggestions to make in regard to the methods on relief projects. He said that he felt the use of a little machinery would lessen the cost of the projects, and furnish more for the money expended.

He also said it would help out, if his engineering staff could lay projects for townships and other political sub-divisions which did not have engineers and could ill afford to employ them. He said they had to get projects which would create employment without furnishing materials, and thought it would be a good idea if materials were furnished where the sub-divisions were not in shape to furnish it and also to furnish some of the equipment.

Reynolds Testifies

William Reynolds, who works on the Administration staff of the Works division told of the steps necessary to have employes placed on the project. The men are requisitioned and the names are then submitted to the Relief office to determine whether on relief or not, after which the list is sent back to the employment office and those selected, are notified to report for work. He then gets an assignment and identification card, without which he cannot go to work. He said a foreman or timekeeper does not necessarily have to be on relief rolls, the regulation in this regard being later attested to by Mr. Wilson from a book of regulations.

The different forms used in this transaction were placed in evidence by Mr. Wilson, who was recalled after Mr. Reynolds. He said that a Placement office was to be formed to take care of only those who are on relief. The present employment office handles all those who make application for work, whether on relief or not, he stated.

Reese Is Called

Edward Reese, supervisor of the Pennsylvania State Employment service for Lawrence County was called just before adjournment. He told how people are registered, for employment. Those who are on relief are placed in the No. 1 or active file, and when work projects develop, are placed at work.

He said the state employment office was created in 1924, and was handled through the Y. M. C. A. until just recently. He works under the state Department of Labor and Industry and his office is affiliated with the National Employment Service, which organization pays half of the cost of upkeep.

He explained how workers were selected, stating that there are 3,-500 registered as unemployed on relief, and that it was a difficult matter to select 500 employes from this number. What one man might consider good judgment might not be looked at in the some light by another. They tried to be as fair as possible in selecting those to go to work, however, he stated.

He said an analysis had been made of relief project workers on April 1, which showed that everyone registered had received some employment with the exception of 3.29 percent of all registered.

(International News Service)

BRIDGEPORT, April 26—Mrs. Carveth Wells, No. 1, has $5,000 heart balm damages today—if she can collect it—and Wells and Mrs. Wells No. 2 "have each other and are very much in love."

Matters stood thus as Richard Steel, counsel for the second Mrs. Wells, filed a motion to set aside the verdict of the jury which gave her predecessor $5,000 damages—$3.-000 for alienation of the explorer-author's affections, and $2,000 on the adultery complaint.

The jury left little doubt how they felt about the case in awarding punitive damages in the $50,000 suit.

As Mrs. Wells No. 1 thanked the jury they beamed at her and all shook hands with the complainant in the suit, E. S. Beardsley foreman, of Monroe, told her:

SHE REDUCED 14 LBS. IN 3 WEEKS

Paid No Attention To Envious Gossipers

Mrs. J. H. Valentine of Freeport, N. Y., writes: "I lost 14 lbs. with Kruschen and my husband took off 12 lbs. in 3 weeks and intends keeping up the good work. I think Kruschen is simply wonderful."

Intelligent folks like Mr. and Mrs. Valentine don't listen to gossiping folks who tell them it's impossible to reduce safely.

Kruschen Salts is one safe reducing treatment—it's a health treatment— physicians prescribe it—just take a half teaspoonful in a cup of hot water first thing every morning —tastes fine with juice of half lemon added—a jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a few cents. THE NORGE ROLLATOR cold-making mechanism . . .

• In the Norge factory a stock Rollator Compressor runs — constantly. To date it has run the equivalent of thirty-three years in the average home. And it uses less current today than it did the first year! It has actually become more efficient with use.

Before you buy a refrigerator, think of this test — the "Marathon" test. Ask yourself if that isn't the kind of mechanism you want in your refrigerator — one that will continue to give you dependable refrigeration service through the years. And remember that the Rollator Compressor in today's Norge is actually improved over the "Marathon" Rollator.

The Rollator Compressor is the basis of Norge economy. It provides unfailing cold with so little current that it constantly saves both in food and refrigeration costs. Owners report that Norge saves up to $11 a month.

See the Norge. You'll find it everything you want in refrigeration, plus the exclusive advantages of the Rollator cold making mechanism.

Every good electric refrigerator is safe—there is none safer than Norge

NORGE

FREEDOM OF SPEECH

SECRETARY ICKES and Senator Borah, as far apart as the poles on many questions are in complete accord about one thing, the right of free speech and free assemblage. The other night Senator Borah appealed to the editors of the country and two days later Secretary Ickes appealed to the publishers to protect the right of free speech as jealously as they protect the right of a free press. Freedom Secretary Ickes pointed out, is one and indivisible; "free economic enterprise, free political institutions and the free speech of which a free press is a part, are one and inseparable." Tyranny cannot be allowed in any of these fields without jeopardizing freedom in all the others.

Mr. Ickes's special concern was for the right of free speech and free assemblage. He finds the right of a free press on a firm footing in this country, but the right of free assemblage and free speech is denied in many places. Letting a soap-box orator shoot his mouth off strikes terror in the minds of many who would not think of curtailing the freedom of the press. They forget that free speech, free assemblage and a free press are of equal importance, "the three musketeers of our constitutional forces," in Mr. Ickes's phrase, which must "fight shoulder to shoulder against every threat of insidious foe."

In this country we believe life would not be worth living without freedom. We would rather blunder and suffer from our mistakes and be free than be errorless and efficient to the "nth" degree without freedom. Still we have a human perversity that makes us want to limit the freedom of others—of people we think dumb or crack-brained or subversive. Bias and prejudice are often given full rein because, while we have freedom and cherish it, we do not have enough faith in it, or in ourselves, to let others exercise it.

REVERSAL OF FORM

Irene Castle McLaughlin, the dancer, would like to correct the "hideous mistake" for which she holds herself responsible. The mistake was her former advocacy of the boyish figure for women. She feels now that curves are far more lovely.

It is a matter on which we refuse to get worked up, and on which we know better than to take sides. If the ladies desire to go boyish, it is all right with us, so long as they do not diet to a point where their tempers are affected. If they are naturally supplied with curves, to which they wish to conform their costumes, that is equally satisfactory.

They will do as they please, anyway, subject to the dictates of the prevailing modes.

WHY WORRY?

A score of years ago worry stories were among the surest sellers to certain magazines that made high-brow pretensions by including in each issue at least one article discussing economic questions. The besetting fear of the time was that humanity, and particularly the branch of it resident in the United States would run out of something.

We were rapidly going short on necessities in those days, if the professional prognosticators were to be believed. They had it all figured out; coal was to last 20 years; oil would trickle out in 30 years; the forests would be used up in 10 years, and the population would increase to tax the resources of the farms at no specified time but soon.

It is a pleasant thought that perhaps the worries of the present year may prove as baseless as were those of 20 years ago.

NEW PRESIDENT FOR THE P. R. R.

The Pennsylvania railroad lost a remarkably able president by the resignation of General William Wallace Atterbury. It acquired an equally aggressive and brilliant operator when the directors elected Vice President Martin W. Clement to the presidency. Illness induced General Atterbury to retire almost a year before age automatically would have caused him to relinquish his post. In nominating Mr. Clement as his own successor, the general described him as "unquestionably the ablest railroad executive in the country."

The new president is not yet fifty-four years old, son of the late Major General Clement, of Sunbury, and has risen with extraordinary rapidity. From division engineer to head of the world's greatest and richest railroad in nineteen years is a leap that could have been achieved only through high intellect, wide vision and sound judgment.

Since the days of J. Edgar Thomson the presidency of the Pennsylvania has carried with it greater prestige than a similar position in any other railroad on earth. And for that there is ample reason. The Pennsylvania touches more important cities than any other railroad. It handles the largest traffic, has the heaviest gross business, employs the most workers and is owned by the greatest army of shareholders. In addition to that unquestioned supremacy, its invested capital of more than $2,500,000,000 exceeds that of any other railroad. An unbroken dividend record of more than 80 years puts it in first place in that respect.

As president, General Atterbury has been aggressive, bold, alert and a man of iron will. His work as vice president indicates that in his new and higher post of responsibility Mr. Clement will fully match all those qualities of his predecessor. Not only owners of the Pennsylvania, but the entire railroad system of America is to be congratulated in the elevation of Mr. Clement to the highest executive.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

THE WAY TO CUT GLASS

Did you ever see a professional glass-cutter at work?

It looks so easy, the way he does it....It looks so easy, anybody could do it....It looks so easy, try it yourself when you get home.

Somebody's broken a window in your home. You decide to fix it yourself, to save money, to show you can do it....You take the measure of the opening and go down to the glass man's shop, tell him you want a piece of glass that size.

He gets a sheet of glass, nicks it at the right places, places it on his table, draws his cutter swiftly, almost carelessly down the glass, presses his thumb firmly against it, and—click! there's your pane of glass for you, cut right down the line.

But now YOU try it! You buy a glass-cutter of your own. You take a piece of glass and measure it.... You draw the cutter very carefully down the line. But you're not quite sure that you have cut the surface; so you pull the cutter over it again, just to make certain. Then, with close attention, pressing very firmly, you try to break it along the line... Does it work? It does NOT. Your straight line is a wandering curve. Your piece of glass is wasted. All your care has gone for nothing.

What's wrong? Well, for one thing, YOU are wrong. You don't understand glass. You don't know how to cut it. You made one mistake when you used the cutter twice on that line. You made another when you used slow pressure on the glass, instead of sudden pressure, when you tried to break it.

The glass-cutter wasn't being careless, debonaire, showy. He was cutting glass as it MUST be cut. He was treating it in the only way it CAN be treated....And if you want to know something else, he was treating glass in just the way a happy human being treats life. Not timid about it. Not nervous. Not fidgetty. Not as if it were something frail and breakable, but as if it were something tough, endurable, and solid....The way glass is in the hands of a wise workman, the way life is in the hands of men and women who know how to use it.

"STAY FOR SUPPER"

We were a numerous family in the good old days of yore,
But no matter how crowded the table seemed there was always room for more.
And Saturday was baking day for cookies and cakes and pies,
When mother was loading the pantry shelves and tempting our greedy eyes.
For Sunday brought in a merry group and for supper they always stayed
Till the table grew to a banquet board with places for twenty laid.

"Stay for supper!" Is that phrase lost? so seldom I hear it now.
Can't the tables be stretched as we used to do, or have we forgotten how?
Don't the mothers cook as our mothers did? Don't they load up the pantry shelves
At the end of the week with a little more good food than they'll need themselves?

When Sunday comes don't the friends drop in in that good old fashioned way
Just for a visit: but deep in the hearts, don't they know they'll be asked to stay?

Why, Sundays brought us the sisters' beaux and my brother's friends and mine
'Twas a stormy day and a dull one, too, that we didn't feed eight or nine,
And I think of the mother and think of the dad who looked to the day of rest,
With food for an army if one should call, as a time that they loved the best
Then home was the merriest place of all those days, that have before,
For no matter how crowded the table grew we always had room for more.

HOMEMAKING REQUIRES THE COMBINED EFFORTS OF ALL HOUSEHOLD MEMBERS

Although you worry and complain over many things about your home, you make little effort toward rectifying them.

Homekeeping and homemaking are not one-sided jobs.

They require the combined effort of every member of the household.

Often the one who complains the loudest is the one responsible for much of the necessary additional work.

He cannot find the tool that he failed to put back in its place.

He is unwilling to aid in essential work which someone has had to neglect because of unexpected additional duties.

At home as well as at the place of business there are hindrances which prevent required duties from being attended to in the usual order.

There is this difference: At the business place extra help is procured when necessary.

Ofter at home this cannot be done.

A short time devoted to assisting in home duties soon gets everything in order.

Do less complaining, give a hand to putting things to rights and so set an example to others.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:49. Sun rises tomorrow 5:16.

There are still a few good promisers who haven't landed in Washington yet. Promisers are not going to be so prominent there soon.

It is said that a good sign of returning prosperity is when people pay their taxes and other bills. Well, most every person can enjoy things like that. Even those who are able to pay get a lot of joy out of it.

PREMATURELY AGED

The car was crowded and the conductor was grumpy. "Where's the fare for the boy?" he snapped as Mr. Cohen handed him a penny.

"De boy is only four years old," said Mr. Cohen, calmly.

"Four years!" snapped the conductor. "Four years! Why, look at at 'im. He's eight years old if he's a day."

Mr. Cohen leaned over and gazed earnestly at the boys' countenance. Then he turned to the conductor: "Can I help it if he worries?" he asked.

"Wilbur Glenn Voliva predicts that the human race will have lots of trouble in 1935. That isn't a prediction—it's a foregone conclusion, and Voliva has had a few jolts himself already this year.

Another trouble with this country is that it is overrun with those who won't believe anything that isn't broadcast through a hat.

We still think those folks who go cut in all kinds of weather in the spring to gather dandelions are wasting their time. The stuff don't even look good.

Farm Rents In Demand.
Also Shortage Of Tractors.
Removing Rail Crossings.

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 26.—Probably the truest reflection of public opinion is contained in letters to editors and columnists.

A midwest publisher, who owns a farm as well as a town house, writes:

"Artificially increased produce prices are enabling farms hereabout to pay off debts and it is almost impossible to find farm land for rent. Much land will go unplanted because of the scarcity of horses and shortage in delivery of tractors ordered. Farmers are offering cash and premiums for tractors in time for plowing.

(The U. S. government has been placing large orders for tractors for CCC camps.)

"But what is to become of those of us in cities who haven't the money to pay the higher prices for eats?"

TAX AVOIDANCE

Then there is a letter (creating considerable comment) written by Senator James Couzens of Michigan to the editor of the Wall Street Journal.

Here is the letter:

"I have noted the Wall Street Journal editorial which comments on my remarks on tax avoidance. (Issue of March 29, 1935.)

"May I respectfully suggest to your editorial department that they can find out from Mr. Andrew W. Mellon what constitutes a 'loophole' and also how many of these loopholes are used? Mr. Mellon has used, according to the morning press, five of nine known ways of doing this. While my information was that there were eight well-known ways of avoiding taxation, it now appears from the testimony in Pittsburgh yesterday, that there were nine of them, and that Mr. Mellon used five, instead of seven.

"Tax-free securities are and always have been publicly known, but the other means of tax avoidance were apparently transmitted to Mr. Mellon by the commissioner of internal revenue, so that is the most effective way of securing the information which the editor of the Wall Street Journal seems to desire."

GREATEST HEJIRA

The greatest movement of people in the world's history is likely to take place this summer.

It will, however, be a peaceful movement.

Americans are travel-bent—by auto, train, boat and plane.

The greatest number will be by auto.

The number is expected to exceed 50,000,000.

Outdoor businesses are expected to reap large benefits.

RAIL CROSSINGS

Since President Roosevelt announced that he would allot 200 millions to eliminate railroad grade crossings, there has been speculation as to which railroads would benefit most.

It is believed that lines which have endeavored to speed trains to compete with airplanes may become the chief beneficiaries.

Such railroads are the New York, Central, the Pennsylvania, the New Haven, the Boston & Maine, the Jersey Central, the Philadelphia & Reading, the Baltimore & Ohio, the Lackawanna, the Lehigh Valley, the Chicago & Northwestern, the Union Pacific, the Burlington, the Milwaukee, the Sante Fe, the Illinois Central, the Atlantic Coast Line and the Southern Pacific.

Get a railroad guide of the United States and you will see how that gives virtually all regions a look-in. But the chief work will be done necessarily in the most populous regions, where there is the most highway traffic crossing railroads.

Syracuse, N. Y., finally may have trains removed from its chief streets. There are anachronisms like that at a few other places, too.

HOW ABOUT TRIBUTE?

A relic of old New York was found recently, after what travels no one could possibly tell. It was discovered by a clam opener in Newark and it was inside a clam which had recently arrived from Virginia.

It was a copper coin, bearing the likeness of a somewhat imposing structure, with the legend: "Merchants Exchange, Wall Street, New York. Built 1827—Burnt 1835."

On the reserve side was the slogan: "Millions for Defense, but Not One Cent for Tribute."

And what does that have to do with present day conditions?

That it doesn't rain fish, periwinkles, angleworms, even frogs.

It does. There are various scientific explanations. Charles Fort write an interesting book on the subject, called "Lo!", in which he suggested a supernatural significance.

That the Cross always has been the Christian symbol.

H. J. Leon, University of Texas, tells us the earliest Christian used the fish as a symbol. Mr. Leon also wants to undo the movie version of history: he reminds us we're wrong if we believe—

That Nero persecuted Christians in the Colosseum.

He didn't. The colosseum hadn't been built then, even if you do see Nero in it in the movies.

Hope To Reduce Accident Toll

Van Dyke Plans Fewer Hazards For Workers On Roads

BIG STRIDES WERE MADE LAST YEAR

HARRISBURG, April 26.—Renewed efforts to reduce accidents on state highway maintenance work is urged by Warren VanDyke, secretary of the highway department.

The department has just completed its third year in its drive against accidents with a substantial decrease in accident frequency and accident severity.

Despite a 25 per cent. increase in the average number of employes as compared to the previous "safety year" and a 50 per cent increase in the number of hours' work, accident frequency decreased 34 per cent. Accient severity was reduced 50 per cent in the same period.

No. 8 Leads

Engineering District 8, comprising the counties of Adams, Cumberland, Franklin and York made the greatest progress in the safety campaign. The district jumped from eighth to first place on the safety roster.

Montour county district was first in 1933 in safety achievement and again ranks first for 1934 having but four accidents with 39 days lost time. Even though this district has reported the least number of hours worked, its record for the past two years is exceptional.

Snyder county district is second with only eight accidents with 147 days lost time. It stands second in accident frequency and third in accident severity. It has improved its rating over last year when it was seventeenth in frequency and sixty-first in severity.

District 4-1, Bradford county, made an outstanding record during 1934. With five times the number of hours worked in Montour county, Bradford county ranks eighth in accident frequency, and eleventh in accident severity, improving its standing from thirty-first in the former and thirty-second in accident severity.

A Doctor Knows!

And doctors use a liquid laxative

"Leave the rest to nature"

There's a very good reason why doctors and hospitals have always used liquid laxatives! You'd use a liquid, too, if you knew how much better it makes you feel.

A liquid laxative can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Just ask your own doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help, and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

People who have experienced this comfort, never return to any form of help that can't be regulated! The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara, and these are natural laxatives. that form no habit — even in children. Its action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve a condition of biliousness or sluggishness without upset. It's the ideal family laxative because it's a family doctor's prescription, and perfectly safe and effective for family use.

If you are seeking something that will relieve your occasional upsets safely and comfortably, try Syrup Pepsin. Give regulated doses until Nature restores regularity.

At all drug stores

Greece May Vote Return Of King

May Give People Opportunity To Decide Whether Or Not They Want King Back

(International News Service)

PARIS, April 26.—The people of Greece may be given an early opportunity to decide at the polls whether they want to end their 12-year-old republic and invite King George II to step back into the throne.

This was the one concrete possibility emerging today from a maze of rumors that stirred centers of royalist intrigue here and in London.

Strong reports persisted that Greek monarchists met here yesterday to organize a drive for the restoration, but Ex-King George himself departed for London today, emphatically denying that he had accepted or even received a bid to return to Athens.

The question of the monarchy is becoming one of the main issues in the general elections to be held in Greece May 19 for members of the National Assemoly, according to Greek sources here.

Dr. Alley Noted Platform Orator

Lecturer Coming Sunday Is Keen Student Of International Affairs

Dr. Alden G. Alley, coming here for a public lecture at the First Baptist church on Sunday afternoon, April 28, is a graduate of Harvard university and formerly, a professor of history at Dana college, Newark, N. J., and master at Milton academy.

He speaks Sunday on "What Is Happening in Europe and What It Means to America." The public meeting will open at 3 o'clock.

Dr. Alley's extensive travel in Europe before the war and his 13 trips abroad since 1920, during which he has attended 10 sessions of the League of Nations assembly in Geneva, have qualified him as an exceedingly well-informed lecturer on international affairs. During 12 visits to Germany he has followed from the beginning the rise of Hitler and the past summer has observed on the spot the reactions of the German people to the Nazi regime. Last summer he also spent several absorbing weeks in the Saar. During the war he served as lieutenant in the United States infantry in France.

The New Castle Ministerial association and the Lawrence County Council on the Cause and Cure of War are jointly sponsoring his visit.

City Represented In Music Contests Today

New Castle was represented by several talented senior high school soloists as the eighth annual statewide Pennsylvania Music and Forensic league contests in Oil City opened today.

On Saturday more senior high soloists will compete and in the afternoon the band and orchestra of the school will take the contest stage against the best class A bands and orchestras of the state.

Considerable hope was held today that the city will place first in at least two of the state events.

M. Clyde Kelly Reported Worse

Former Congressman's Condition Is Unfavorable This Morning

M. CLYDE KELLY

(International News Service)

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., April 26. M. Clyde Kelly, former congressman and newspaper publisher at Braddock, who was shot when his rifle accidentally discharged last Monday night, took a sudden turn for the worse today. Physicians at Adrian hospital said he was in a semi-conscious, critical condition.

Shot through the abdomen by a bullet that penetrated his lung, Kelly had been making a slow but gradual recovery. He spent an uncomfortable night, however, and his condition was unfavorable today.

Physicians said the former congressman, recognized as the "father of the air mail," has lost strength because of his inability to sleep soundly. Opiates have been used to relieve the pain.

Scores of telegrams from former congressional associates and friends continue to pour into the hospital.

CAN'T PLACE COSTS ON INNOCENT MAN

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 26—A ruling Common Pleas Judges George V. Moore, William H. McNaugher and M. A. Musmanno handed down while sitting en banc here, established a court precedent that may mean repayment of thousands of dollars costs assessed defendants by justices of the peace, aldermen and magistrates.

Ordering repayment by Justice of the Peace James J. Westwood, McKees Rocks, of $10 costs imposed against a defendant, acquitted on an assault and battery charge, the jurists ruled:

"A squire cannot make a defendant pay costs of a case in which the accused is found not guilty."

They declared unconstitutional that section of the act of assembly permitting assessment of costs against defendants found not guilty.

Funny man! He despises a player who won't try to help the team win, yet does the same thing when he gets on a jury.

TELL MAGAZINE USE

Not every senior high school student realizes that his school has a wealth of reference material in its library in addition to the books. This is the material contained in the magazines, of which literally thousands are on file.

Our list of magazines (over 30 in number) contains the best for school use and through the kindness of the social studies classes there are several volumes treating those subjects.

The magazine files go back about 10 years in most cases. However, there are two outstanding files. One containing the National Geographic issues goes back to 1915 and one containing the Century magazines goes back to 1882. Through the use of the Readers' Guide the articles in thse magazines may be found quickly for reference. The magazines are taken out for overnight use and on some occasions over 50 are circulated.

The various states took in a total of nearly $9,000,000 for hunting licenses in 1933, federal statistics reveal.

Thinks It's A Shame A Man Has To Be Retired At 85

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK.—It isn't right or fair to retire active men too early in life, 85-year-old John J. McFall complained today..

For more than 60 years the remarkable Mr. McFall helped visitors from the hinterland and New Yorkers get to and from the places they wanted to go.

He started out as a driver of the old metropolitan horse cars and it was his mighty arm and will which broke in many of the new horses for horsecar transportation. With the speeding up of traffic he went to work for the Sixth avenue elevated line and there he stayed through the years until the company recently retired him on a pension—much to his chagrin. Thus he served through all of the developments in street railway transportation.

He is trying to get the company to take him back for active duty, because he thinks it is ridiculously arbitrary to ask a man to retire who is still hale and hearty enough to be precinct captain of a Republican district. He was elected to this post in the last election and conducted a spirited campaign, making speeches all around the neighborhood.

His last job was piloting fat women over the top steps of the escalator at the 34th street station of the Elevated. As unwieldy parties reached the top step, where you have to be sprightly and get your foot off before the step disappears, Mr. McFall would grasp them with those wildhorse tamer arms of his.

"I didn't have a single accident," said Mr. McFall. Not a single woman, not even the 200 pounders, all loaded down with bundles, ever got off balance while I was on the job.

"But the attorneys, you know, they think it might go against the company in a damage case if it became known a man of 80-odd is on the job. It isn't fair either, to retire men so early. I like activity.

Mr. McFall still has a lot of activity keeping house and doing the marketing for his unmarried daughter, who works in an office downtown. But he complains he is apt to go a little soft with nothing more to do than that, and working for the Republican party.

Straight as a cadet, Mr. McFall is a fine example of what a healthy outdoor life will do for a man. He attributes his excellent condition—never had a stomach ache or headache, lots of outdoor life and exercise and simple diets.

"I am a hearty eater, but I stick to two or three items at a time and don't mix so many ingredients in my stomach. It stands to reason the stomach can't stand so many mixed ingredients at one time."

County Tries To Dissolve, It Can't

Flood Of Protests From Residents Hold Up Legislative Move

(International News Service)

DENVER.—Residents of Hinsdale county, in southern Colorado, know what it means to be homeless and friendless.

A bill was introduced into the Colorado state legislature, seeking to abolish Hinsdale county and divide its territory among surrounding counties. A flood of protests immediately poured in on legislators from citizens of the proposed foster parents.

Nobody, it seemed, wanted to have anything to do with the region, famous in Colorado history as the county in which Alfred Packer was once accused of "eating all the Democrats and half the citizens." The accusation was made at Packer's trial for murder of several companions, whom he was later convicted of having killed and eaten when his prospecting party became snowbound in the mountains and faced starvation.

Hinsdale county, until a few years ago, had a population of 350 persons, several deserted mines and 9.4 miles of railroad. The company operating the railroad obtained permission to withdraw its lines from Hinsdale county. The result was that the county lost the source of more than half its tax revenues.

Since that time Hinsdale county has been willing to be adopted by some other county or counties, but the response is nil.

Cattle Rustlers Are Busy Again

(International News Service)

LOCKWOOD, Mo.—Reminiscent of the Anti-Horsethief associations of earlier days, more than one hundred farmers and business men of Lockwood have organized a society to break up cattle rustling in the district.

The organization is aimed at what its members believe is a wellorganized band of expert thieves.

Drouth and dust stormes in the west have made cattle rustling profitable in regions untouched by the scourges.

Muscles comprise about forty per cent of the weight of the ordinary human body.

Visions All War Planes Converted To Diesel Power

(International News Service)

TULSA, Okla.—The air battles of future wars will be fought by airplanes powered by diesel motors rather than the present gasoline propelled craft, Maj. Art Gobel, U. S. Army reservist and winner of the Dole flight to Hawaii, said here.

"Diesel motors are not subject to radio interference," Gobel said He also spoke of added safety diesel motors give pilots. Shells fired through fuel tanks of diesel-powered craft would not be explosive whereas a similar shell hitting a gasoline tank would result in immediate disaster to the plane.

Germany has recently installed diesel motors in gasoline-engined planes and found the planes speedier and more economical in fuel as a result.

Caught By Law After 14 Years

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Conn.—The law has caught up with William McMahon after 14 years of driving an automobile without a license and McMahon is poorer by $63.51.

State policeman Wallace C. Nelson was weighing trucks on the turnpike here when McMahon drove his car on the scene. Thinking the policeman was checking licenses, McMahon hastily turned around and sped away.

Officer Nelson became suspicious and gave chase. When he overhauled McMahon the latter admitted he has driven since 1921 without an operator's license and never been arrested.

Had he paid for his license each year it would have cost $42 for the 14 years. McMahon was fined $50 and costs of $13.51 in town court.

He And Huey Are Already In Race For Presidency

(International News Service)

BELLE PLAINE, Kan.—When you go to the polls in November 1936 to cast your vote for President, you may not find the name of Chester A. Shewalter on the ballot, but just the same he will be a candidate.

In fact his fedora already is in the ring. And if you have any doubt regarding Mr. Shewalter's political intentions you need but examine his correspondence. He signs himself "candidate for President, U.S.A."

Yes, indeedy. Aad to further enlighten the voting gentry, let it be known that candidate Shewalter will base his campaign on a strictly "America first" platform. He was nominated in 1932 by the "All-America Nationalist party," he remembers.

WISCONSIN CAMPUS ABUZZ AT PROBE STORY

Ousted Dean Is Chief Witness

SLASHES BACK AT HIS ACCUSERS

By PHILIP G. REED
International News Service Special Correspondent

MADISON, Wis., April 26—A spicy tale of unconventional moral standards and political skulduggery among the faculty of the University of Wisconsin extension school had the campus and the state capital abuzz today.

The sensational story came from no less an authoritative personage than Chester D. Snell, ousted Dean of the extension division, who held the crowded galleries and the special senate committee investigating university communism breathless during his two hours on the witness stand last night.

Lashes At Accusers

Fighting mad, the wiry young educator was lashing back at his accusers, whom he charged:

"Caused my dismissal by political influence. I was not even accorded fair treatment by President Glenn Frank or the board of regents."

As the central figure in the asserted plot to disgrace and oust him as well as dominate the policies of the Milwaukee extension school Snell named Mrs. Meta Berger, former regent of the university and widow of Victory Berger, the socialist congressman and publisher.

Also having major roles, Dean Snell charged, were Mrs. Berger's daughter, Mrs. Doris Welles: her husband, Colin Welles: Prof. Frank Hursley of the extension school English department, and, by inference, Dr. Frank, the university president.

Political Campaign

The political campaign which succeeded in putting the skids under him, Snell said, was instigated by Mrs. Berger when he refused to reappoint Prof. Hursley to the teaching staff.

And he refused, as set forth in the testimony, because:

"He did not meet the character test."

The witness state that the reason Mrs. Berger felt a keen interest in the welfare of Prof. Hursley was as she told him:

"So that Prof. Hursley's future would be assured, and he would be able to marry my daughter."

The thing that caused the co-eds in the audience to raise their eyebrows and the townsfolk to titter was his next statement:

"Of course, Prof. Hursley was a married man himself at the time and Mrs. Berger's daughter, Doris, was married although separated from Welles.

Direct charges of alleged immorality involving a boat trip for several days taken by men and women faculty members and presented to the university regents in affidavits were not aired at the hearing.

Local Judge To Sit On Mercer Co. Case

Judge R. L. Hildebrand will hold court in Mercer on May 9th, when he will hear pleadings on proceedings brought by the county commissioners to collect $4500 alleged due the county as a result of a report filed in May, 1927 by the board of county auditors. The report found that $4500 in court house bonds paid in 1918 were again repaid in 1919, by the changing of the date of payment on the bonds.

Chicago And Points West. Ever Collect Birds' Eggs? Sowing Seed By Hand. Two Costumes—Mrs. P. Won.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

CHICAGO, April 25.

INTERESTING trip to this big city on Lake Michigan, from Washington, where statesmanship is hatching blue eagles and new ideas.

You go north from Washington through Baltimore, to Harrisburg, Pa.; then due west to big Pittsburgh, where Vulcan lives, hammering out his steel; then slanting to the north and hundreds of miles west to big Chicago that looks, on the map, with Lake Michigan hanging straight down like a white egg at the bottom of a Baltimore oriole's nest.

PERHAPS as a boy, you used to get eggs from such nests for your collection. This writer did, and humming birds, eggs, hidden away in tiny nests in the bark of old trees.

Do you ever wish you were back climbing that tree, with all the opportunities ahead for avoiding mistakes and using time more wisely? Wishing is wasting time.

LAST NIGHT at nine o'clock the "limited" started for the Pacific Coast, and your narrator started with it, to help a good friend celebrate his birthday. The day after arrival, which will be next Sunday, on another train through New Orleans to Miami to close a winter house there and move a family of young children to the north.

Any temptation to pity yourself for "so much traveling" is cured by a glance from the Pullman car window.

In the hollow of a flat piece of land near a stream that may overflow, a farmer with a bag of seed over his shoulder is sowing seed by hand, scattering it with a swinging arm, as servants of Boaz did, in fields where Ruth was allowed to glean.

Last year's dry grass had been burned over and the field was black. The man perhaps set the fire purposely to fertilize his soil, a mistaken idea. Last year's grass would have been better ploughed under to supply humus. This amateur farmer knows that much about it.

To burn over fields means sending the strength of those fields floating up into the air far away from your farm. Live plants live on dead plants as live men live on the ideas of dead men.

THAT PATIENT farmer, sowing by hand, walking miles up and down his fields, at the mercy of drought, flood, sandstorm and changing prices, represents the patient industry that keeps his country [illegible] demonstrates the folly of those that would have the human race go back to hand sowing, and abolish labor-saving machinery.

Fools blame perfected machinery, product of the human intellect, instead of blaming their selfish stupidity that has not learned how to DISTRIBUTE the products of scientific mass production.

Compare that man walking up and down, sowing by hand, with Mussolini draining the Pontine marshes, ending malaria in Rome, something all the Roman emperors never could do. Mussolini doing it with the aid of tractors and plows.

Some would have the farmer sow wheat and corn by hand, and perhaps harvest the crop on his hands and knees with a small knife as farmers do today in Java.

Earl D. Babst, head of the American Sugar Refining Company, can tell you about that. He has seen it recently.

SENATOR HUEY P. LONG, whatever you may think of him as a political economist and successor to Adam Smith, could render public service by repeating every day, with the persistency of old Cato, what he said last night in Washington:

"There has never been any overproduction in this country because the United States had never produced as much as the people would use if they could have all they need."

Senator Long then quoted two branches of the government. One branch shows in exact figures just how much of everything a human being needs yearly from birth until death. Another branch shows how much of those things the United States produces in its best years.

Senator Long adds:

"You multiply what the government shows that human beings need by one hundred and twenty-five millions, the number of people in the United States, and you find that this country has never produced enough for all the people. We have got along because so many had to do without. No fear of overproduction."

The problem in America is DISTRIBUTION.

Our trouble is not, never has been OVERPRODUCTION.

THIS REPORTER was led into the presence of Senator Huey Long Tuesday night by Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, editor of the Washington Herald, acting as a lady Virgil guide to a strange region.

Underneath each of her royal Sevres dinner plates, Mrs. Patterson has written in letters of gold, Nihil humani me alienum puto, a favorite saying of Francis Bacon, meaning roughly: "Nothing that concerns human beings can be foreign to me."

RESTING after two tiresome round trips from Washington to New Orleans and other trips to New York and back, the picturesque Senator from Louisiana wore well-made pajamas of bright red satin, outside the pajamas a handsome dressing gown of blue flowered silk.

If you described that costume on some other Senator, say from Kansas, his constituents would shriek "aristocrat."

Senator Long's constituents are better trained. When they read that description they will say to the last man, woman and pickaninny:

"If Huey Long wears red satin pajamas and blue flowered silk wrappers, that is exactly what a Senator from Louisana OUGHT to wear annd we are glad that Huey is in Washington teaching the other senators something."

HOWEVER, Senator Long did not have it sartorially all his own way. One look at Mrs. Patterson and he felt like the New York lady who dined with Mrs. Edward McLean when the latter wore the Hope diamond and all the diamond, pearl, ruby, sapphire, gold and platinum trimmings that went with it.

The New York lady with only six diamond bracelets, one necklace and one diamond tiara said:

"I felt as though I had nothing on."

She hurried upstairs and put on more.

THAT'S HOW Senator Long felt when he saw Mrs. Patterson wearing a "creation" that sent Schiaparelli away for a two weeks' rest cure after she finished it.

From the neck to the waist the dress was apparently solid gold, only brighter, and from the waist down it was an indescribable mixture that would have made any mermaid, with all her flashing irridescent scales, jealous.

SENATOR LONG said: "Well, sister, you are dressed up," and added, looking in this direction:

"Tell Mr. Hearst I am ten times as hot against anarchists and Communists as he ever was, and if any of them show up in Louisiana, only they WON'T, they will remember Huey Long for some time.

This writer, who some day will attempt to describe Huey Long, mentions those two suits of clothes, remembering how Carlyle abused the poor monk who wrote about King John's visit to the monastery in ancient days and said not a word about the king's clothes.

Mother And Son Sentenced To Hang On Gallows For Insurance Murder Plot

(International News Service)

GEORGETOWN, Del., April 26.—For the second time in history, Delaware today condemned a woman to death on the gallows.

The doomed woman and her son must hang on June 7. Sentence was imposed by Chief Justice Daniel J. Layton after a jury recommended mercy for Mrs. May H. Carey, 52, and her son, Howard, 27, convicted slayers of Robert Hitchens, 55-year old garage mechanic.

Hitchens, a brother of Mrs. Carey, was slain, according to the prosecution, so that Mrs. Carey and her two sons could collect his insurance. The second son, James, 23, was sentence to life imprisonment.

The first and only woman to die on the gallows was Sarah Jane Bradley, Negress, executed in 1860.

LONDON, April 26—Mayfair is gradually abandoning the dieting craze. The "Bright Young Things" have become tired of China tea and lemon and wafer-like slices of bread and butter.

Slabs of cheese and rich plum cake now are very popular at cocktail and sherry parties. Stout sandwiches of brown bread and butter with kipper between them were appreciated recently at a party given by Miss Pamela Redmayne, daughter of Sir Richard and Lady Redmayne.

Lady Portarlington, whose house is the scene of many parties, now gives guests such unusual and substantial delicacies as cheese, salad and tomatoes at tea.

NAHANT, Mass.—"The service here is disgusting," said Ralph E. Marsh, after driving into a supposed gasoline station here, and he was unable to arouse the attendants by blowing his horn.

Marsh got out of his car and went into the station where he proceeded to tell the two blue uniformed "attendants" what he thought of the service. Marsh was arrested, charged with drunkenness and driving under the influence of liquor—the filling station was the municipal police station and the attendants were Patrolmen John J. O'Connor and George Burnett.

CHILDREN GROWN, MOTHER HAS FUN

(International News Service)

DENVER—Mrs. Lucille C. Thomas has realized a childhood ambition after taking time out to raise a family.

Forty-five years ago, when she was seven years old, she saw and admired an etching. She wanted to learn the difficult and highly-technical art.

She married and raised a family of four children before she realized her hope. Last fall, with her children grown and time on her hands, she took her first lesson in etching. Now she spends all her time making etchings of Colorado scenery.

TAKES A BLAST AT BILLBOARDS

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—"Outdoor billboard advertising is perfectly stupid," in the opinion of Marjorie Sewell Cautley, landscape designer and only woman lecturer at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

"When a woman goes shopping she looks in the newspapers or magazines for the things she wants to buy and not at billboards," said Miss Cautley. "After riding for ten miles and reading the merits of certain chewing gum or shaving cream you make a mental note never to buy those products."

NEVADA "GHOST TOWN" AWAKENS

(International News Service)

AUSTIN, Nev.—This "ghost town" has come to life after 48 years.

The second oldest mining camp in the state, it was first staked out in 1862 and flourished until 1887. At one time the town's population was as high as 10,000 and the mines produced over 65 millions of dollars from the richest silver ore ever mined in the State, averaging over $200 per ton for a period of 20 years.

The mine shut down because of increasing costs which ran about $75 a ton, and the lowering of silver prices.

The present search for ores to satisfy the increasing demand for silver has caused the reopening of the camp whose large tonnage of low grade ores can now be worked because of improvements in metallurgy and modern equipment.

As a result the population of the town is rapidly growing and it is expected that over a thousand miners will be employed soon.

Clothes and other inflammable materials soaked in a solution of two pounds of ammonium phosphate and two quarts of water become fireproof.

ADJUST COLLAR AND HARNESS TO HORSE

Sore necks and shoulders on horses can be largely avoided if the driver exercises thoughtful care. Most of these troubles come from collars that do not fit or from hames and harness improperly adjusted.

It is much better to fit the collar to the horse than to try to fit the horse to the collar. A short collar pulls down on the neck and causes sores, and also chokes the pulling horse. If the collar opening is too wide it will work back and forth and blister the shoulders. When the collar is too long the effect is the same. Fit the collar snugly but with room for the hand between collar and neck at the bottom. Make necessary adjustments as the shoulders harden and taking up is needed.

Sore shoulders often come from improperly adjusted harness, resulting in wrong point of draft. The hames should be adjusted so that the point of draft or pull on the hames comes from 3 to 5 inches from the point of the shoulder, depending on the size of the horse. If the hitch is too high, there is a down pull on the neck, and if too low, the shoulder point bears the pull and the collar rides high on the neck. Either condition causes trouble.

Studying each horse will show the proper point of draft. The collar and hames are right when (1) the collar is level and firm, (2) has room at the bottom to permit easy breathing, (3) there is no up and down or sidewise slip, and (4) there is even pull on the whole collar. Sound shoulders and neck not only enable the horse to work steadily, but help to eliminate the cause of the touchy nervous horse. Many smash-ups have been caused by a horse driven to the breaking point by the discomfort and misery of a sore neck.

LAYING HENS NEED SUFFICIENT NESTS

A sufficient number of nests in the laying house is necessary to prevent crowding on the nests which may result in broken or soiled eggs.

In a recent survey conducted in one of the Pennsylvania counties it was found that most of the producers were providing too few nests for their birds. Forty-four per cent of producers were using 10 to 12 nests for 100 birds, 29 per cent were using 13 to 15 nests, 15 per cent were using 15 to 20, and 12 per cent were using over 20 nests.

Most of those who had over 15 nests for 100 birds stated that in the fall, when the pullets were first placed in the laying houses, the number of nests for 100 birds would be somewhat less. Constant culling of the flock during the winter had increased the number of nests available for 100 birds.

REMOVE MULCH GRADUALLY FROM STRAWBERRY PLANTS

Mulch put on the strawberry patch last fall to protect the plants from winter injury will have to be removed this spring.

Part of the thickest mulch should be removed from over the rows after danger of severe frost is past and before the plants under the mulch begin to turn yellow. This will allow the new leaves to push through the thin covering of straw which remains. As the season advances the mulch should be lifted and the plants beneath examined. The first sign of yellowing is a sure indication that the mulch should be removed.

Most, if not all, of the surplus straw should be forked over into the middle between the rows and tramped down. Here it will help to conserve moisture, smother weeds, and later avoid excessive packing of the soil by the berry pickers. Any great excess of soil should be removed from the patch.

Do not remove all of the straw from the rows, as the plants will grow up through a light covering, and a little mulch will help to keep the berries clean and free from dirt and grit.

If only a light covering was applied in the fall, it is well to go over the patch to raise and loosen the straw over occasional plants which are too heavily covered. At the same time the straw may be more evenly distributed over the row. This may be done as easily with the hands as with a fork.

When unseasonable late frosts threaten as the flowers are open or nearly open, the crop often can be saved by recovering the plants with a heavy layer of mulch which must be removed immediately as soon as the cold spell is over.

FERTILIZE VEGETABLES TO GET BEST RESULTS

Home gardeners are confronted with the problem of growing 20 to 30 different crops at the same time on a small area. Since each crop feeds differently, some plan of fertilizing must be followed to meet the requirement of all crops.

First of all, most vegetables do best in a soil that is not very acid. Liming every four or five years should keep the soil in the proper condition. After the soil is spaded or plowed, five to seven pounds of lime to 100 square feet can be broadcast and raked in during preparation of the seedbed.

Most vegetable crops are shallow rooted and fibrous-rooted. Therefore, the best results are obtained on soils that are rich in organic or decaying vegetable matter and are provided with a readily available complete fertilizer.

Any of the following fertilizers can be purchased most cheaply in 125 pound bags and are almost equally good for practical purposes: 4-12-4, 4-8-4, 5-10-5, and 4-8-7.

In small gardens broadcast the fertilizer after plowing or spading at the rate of two to three pounds to 100 square feet and work it into the top several inches of soil in preparing the seedbed.

In larger gardens and for wide row crops, such as beans, peas, tomatoes, and cabbage, the fertilizer may be used more economically by row or plant fertilization. In row fertilization, place the fertilizer in a ribbon several inches from each side of the row and about an inch or two deeper than the seed. Do not fertilize directly in the row with the seed. For plants a ring or band may be made six inches from the plant and several inches deep.

Deep, close cultivation is to be avoided on account of destroying shallow feeding roots. Frequent shallow cultivation is best.

COTTONS ARE FASHION IN WARM WEATHER CLOTHES

Cottons are being shown in a greater array of weave, design, texture, and color than ever before and will be used for every type of spring and summer costume and accessory, explains Miss Eleanor Drury, home economics extension representative.

When dress and coat silhouettes have simple lines, women like unusual looking fabrics for these designs. New novelty weaves and textures are available.

If strong, rich colors are desired, there are reds, blues, yellows, and greens, inspired by peasant costumes and those of the South Sea Islanders, Miss Drury reports.

If softer pastel shades are more to the liking they can be found also. These harmonize with the dainty Regency (1810-1820) costumes so popular this spring. Natural color, both in cottons and linens, is new and an outstanding color this spring. Most women will find this more flattering if combined with bright color.

Two finishes which add to the serviceability of cottons are the preshrunk and the anti-crease processes, Miss Drury says.

There are many novelty weaves in all types of cotton fabrics: Seersuckers are used in cottons from gingham to organdies; piques, sheers, (crisp or soft in finish), ginghams, prints, crash weaves in tweed effects, laces, and knitted cottons are all to be had in great variety. Cottons are the fashion!

Mouse Too Big Problem To Him

(International News Service)

RAYMOND, Wash.—"All kinds of auto repairing."

This sign hangs over the shop of Tommy Pederson's "Super service station." But he was stumped when Victor Ahlskog of South Bend brought his car in to have some trouble remedied.

A mouse had taken up its abode in the cushions of the car, tearing out the upholstering to build a nest. Vigorous pounding of the cushions brought the mouse out once, but once only. No amount of yelling, pounding or even compressed air brought it out again.

Pederson finally gave up, returning the car, mouse and all, to its owner.

RUSSIAN CHILD HAS THREE LEGS

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, April 26—A peasant in the village of Sebezh on the Latvian frontier gave birth to a child with three legs.

Ten days after the child, a girl, had been born, the mother noticed a peculiar swelling near the base of the infant's spinal column. She took it to the local hospital where surgeons found that it was a miniature leg. The joints could bend and the leg was ordinary in every way except that the big toe was inverted.

The mother's other children are normal.

Give Program On Americanization

Veterans Of Foreign Wars Auxiliary Presents Excellent Program At Home

MANY TAKE PART IN COLORFUL EVENT

One of the most interesting and unique programs ever presented in the city was given by the Americanization department of the Corporal Harry L. McBride Post Auxiliary, V. F. W., in the Legnon Home Wednesday evening, under the direction of Mrs. Maude Nolan, Americanization chairlady.

The program started with the creation of the earth, and the different scenes depicted events of historical importance from that time to the present day.

The stage was beautifully decorated with blue drapes and background, sprinkled with stars. Mrs. Mae Christoph assisted Mrs. Nolan as pianist.

Dedicated to Grant

The invocation was delivered by Mrs. Rebecca Strong, chaplain, and the program was dedicated to General Grant, a large picture on an easel being placed on the stage by Mrs. Nolan. Mrs. Ruth Conner, president of the auxiliary, gave a tribute to General Grant, and a memorial to him was read by Mrs. Mary Cox.

Departmental Americanization Chairman Mrs. Evelyn Woods was introduced and gave a talk on Americanism, stating that the V. F. W. was the first veterans' order to establish a national commission on Americanization, to teach patriotism and the allegiance to the flag. She ended by giving the pledge to the flag, assisted by the audience.

A large figure of the earth was placed on the stage and the first chapter of Genesis read by Mrs. Rebecca Strong.

The manger scene, depicting the birth of Christ, was then shown, with Mrs. Lillian Falls posing as Mary, the mother of Jesus.

A scene showing the crucifixion followed. Elvirah Bluedorn singing "The Old Rugged Cross".

Columbus discovering America on October 12, 1492, was then depicted, introducing the history and romances of America, with Winifred Nicklin as chairlady. Early discoveries and exploration was depicted, with seven Girl Scouts and a Boy Scout from the Croton troops giving the history of how America was named and sang America.

Colonial Scenes

The development of the English colonies in story form was depicted with Mrs. Reba LaRue as chairlady. Jack LaRue, Jr., dressed as a Quaker preacher, and Carolyn LaRue as a Puritan woman, gave the story of the 13 colonies.

The American Revolutionary period followed, with Ruth Conner as chairlady. The Declaration of Independence was given by Elizabeth Miller, and the preamble to the constitution by the audience.

The history of the flag was depicted by 13 members of the auxiliary in their uniforms of white and blue, while Georgia Lee sang the "Red, White and Blue". A parade and drill of the flags of all nations by 31 members of the auxiliary in uniform, under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Woods, was followed by a reading, "The American Flag", by Mrs. Smith.

The development of the states, under the direction of Mrs. Louise Evans, was given. Six girls dressed in colonial costume, depicted the making of the first flag and danced the minuet. The history of the flag was followed by singing "The Star Spangled Banner" by the audience.

Civil War Period

Mrs. Ida Suber was chairlady of the Civil War period; Lincoln's Gettysburg address was read by Anna Mae Dietterle. Barbara Wilson represented "The Little Colonel", while a military toe dance, to the tune of the "Stars and Stripes Forever", was given by Mary Elizabeth Uber and her class. Earl Hammond sang "The Blue and the Gray".

The development of the nation after the Civil War was depicted under the direction of Miss Mary Cox. A reading, "The Maine", was given by Mrs. Twila Bolt of Sharon, department senior vice president; Elizabeth Miller gave a reading, "Remember the Maine". The V. F. W.'s ten points on Americanism were given by Viola Ryhal. Mrs. Georgia Lee gave the names of the presidents, and Mrs. William Runkle sang "Break the News to Mother".

The World War

The development of the country since 1901 was given under the direction of Mrs. Adella Evans. This showed the World War, and Mrs. Evans read Wilson's proclamation of war. Charles Marshall blew the call to arms on the bugle. Mrs. Lillian Falls depicted Miss Liberty as the boys were sailing for overseas to the tune of current war songs. The women at home knitting and making bandages was depicted by Mrs. Hattie Nowling of the Service Star Legion and Mrs. Phillips, a Gold Star mother, showing the formation of these organizations.

Comrade Roy Evans sang "Mother", while the idea of the boys' last thoughts of mother before going over the top was depicted. Mrs. Harry Bell acted as an overseas nurse and Miss Setter a Salvation Army lass in France, Mrs. Bell having been an oversease nurse, and Miss Setter's mother a Salvation Army lassie in France. Roy Evans also sang "The Rose of No Man's Land".

Selecting the unknown soldier was depicted by Edward Young, while Frank Conner read the poem, "The Unknown Soldier". The armistice, followed with a grave in Flander's field, George Sristoph standing at attention, while Marian Shaffer gave a reading, "In Flander's field. George Christoph in the distance by Charles Marshall.

The boys returning were shown to the tune of "When Johnny Comes Marching Home Again". After their return the organization of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the four points of the organization, fraternal, patriotic, historical and education, was shown.

ESCAPES PRISON TO MEND HIS ROMANCE

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash.—While Charles Manfre, 29, was serving time in a federal road camp here for counterfeiting, he received a letter informing him that his wife was preparing to file divorce proceedings in Los Angeles.

That night he escaped, hitch-hiked to his home near Los Angeles, and patched up the marital troubles.

A month later he walked into police headquarters here and surrendered. A federal grand jury has been requested to indict him for his escape, so he may be given an additional sentence. But his wife will be waiting for him whenever he gets out.

Mutiny Charge Brings Sentences

(International News Service)

NAPLES, April 26.—The first 55 of 275 men and women charged with mutiny on Italy's notorious prison island of Ponza today were under extended sentences ranging from ten to 22 months.

Another group will go on trial behind closed doors May 3, and other batches of 55 each will be brought into court until all 275 have been tried.

Imprisoned on Ponza for criminal and political offenses, they revolted and beat up their guards, it was charged.

NARROW ESCAPE

(International News Service)

ANNECY, France—The curate of the local church noticed a bit of plaster fall from the ceiling into the nave. He cut his catechism class short and sent the 80 children home. A few minutes later the church tower collapsed through the roof into the nave. The church looks as if it underwent heavy bombardment.

Some homes contain normal, happy children and others are kept clean.

KIDNEYS, LIKE OTHER FILTERING PLANTS, NEED IMPURITIES FLUSHED OUT

New, Scientific Medicine, Known as Indo-Vin, Helps Cleanse Millions Of Tiny Kidney Tubes, thus Removing Acid Deposits That Cause Backache, Night Rising, Rheumatism And Muscular Aches and Pains.

Many people neglect weak and ailing kidneys because they do not realize that life depends on them as surely as it does on the other organs. But thousands have already discovered the wonderful cleansing effect of the new mixture of nature's plant juices, called Indo-Vin, which has diuretic action on the filtering tubes of the kidneys, cleansing these important organs as they were never cleansed before, relieving such agonizing afflictions as back pains, swelling of ankles and lower limbs, stiffness in back, etc.

G. H. MOSBY Originator of Indo-Vin

Indo-Vin is now being introduced here in New Castle at Eckerd's drug store.

How This New Scientific Medicine Works

Indo-Vin is taken shortly after meals and mixes with the food in one's stomach, thus aiding Nature by it's diuretic action upon sluggish kidneys, flushing out quantities of impurity that may have become dammed up inside.

Few people know that the kidneys are filters which remove impurities from your blood. When impurities, or acid deposits, clog the kidneys there is a dull, achy feeling across the back and stiffness in the back and lower limbs or rheumatic affliction.

Cleaning out these impurities permits the kidneys to do their work properly and often gives complete relief from bladder irritation and weakness, nightly rising, spots before the eyes, swelling of ankles and rheumatism.

The kidneys are nature's filtering plant for the human machine and must be free of impurities and contamination to keep the system more normal and free of aches and pains.

Medical authorities agree that such disorders make us old before our time, but there is a way to obtain blessed relief, because Indo-Vin urges Nature to drive out the simple poisons that cause the terrific aches and pains, giving quick relief. Likewise, it relieves agony and misery due to rheumatic and neuritis affliction and also has a great cleansing action upon the stomach, liver and bowels, thus improving the whole system in general.

This is no mere tablet, pill or salts, and not a powder, syrup or capsule, and it does not contain alcohol, or a single habit-forming drug, but it is a scientific LIQUID mixture containing juices from medicinal plants. It contains more ingredients than perhaps three ordinary medicines put together, and is the talk of millions all over America. While it is being introduced in New Castle every suffering person can take it at the small cost of only a few cents a day. So if afflicted kidneys or similar disorders are ruining your life, it would certainly be a mistake not to try it.

Indo-Vin is now being introduced to the public daily here in New Castle, at Eckerd's drug store. Also being sold in all the nearby towns by every good druggist throughout this whole New Castle section.

Mrs. Roosevelt Delivers Talk

"Must Make Our Civilization Serve Best Development Of Every Human Being

(International News Service)

WEST CHESTER, April 26.—"We must make our civilization serve the best development of every human being," was the message Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt left behind her today in the 150-year-old Friends' meeting house of the Westtown school, near here.

"So long as civilization does not serve that purpose, it is not the right civilization," she said. "We may have to devise a new system—many new systems—for we are today trying to decide where we are in civilization."

Just how this new deal in civilization is to be brought about, Mrs. Roosevelt wasn't sure, but she was insistent that socialism would not lead the way.

"I have never felt," she said, "that people should be grateful when they receive charity. They should be resentful, and so should we, of the conditions that make charity necessary. We should build in a way that holds hope for the future."

FOUR SETS OF TWINS

(International News Service)

WOODLAND,, Ga.,—It long ago became a habit in Cleveland Holloway household near here, so no one was particularly surprised when Mrs. Holloway gave birth to twins. Large Attendance

The meeting attracted women from all points in the Grove City District of the Erie Conference, numbering about 125, and lasted from 9:45 a. m., to late in the evening.

Morning hours were devoted to worship, led by Miss Grace Stitzinger, of Epworth church, a round table by the district and conference officers, a talk, "Paths to Peace," by Mrs. Anna J. Lewis, of the First M. E. church of Sharon, and a talk, "Christian Citizenship," by Dr. A. C. Locke, of Franklin.

Kerr, of the Oakland Avenue church in Sharon, and Miss Mary Johnson, field worker. At 4 o'clock a junior rally, in charge of Miss Julia Humphrey, district junior superintendent, was conducted and a large crowd of children were present.

Mrs. M. M. Morisuye, of Sharon, and her daughter, Eleanor, sang, "Jesus Loves Me," in their native Japanese language.

In the evening a young people's rally was conducted, beginning with a banquet at 6 o'clock. Worship was conducted by the New Bedford Standard Bearers, and music was furnished by the Bertha Girls, of New Castle. A pageant by the Mahoning Miner Circle, and an address by Miss Mary Johnson, Philadelphia branch field worker, proved most interesting, also.

There were about 150 people present for the final rally. Seventy-five children were present at the afternoon rally.

Four Little Light Bearers of the Epworth M. E. church gave a little playlet and the vested junior choir from the First M. E. church rendered some musical selections during the day.

Senator Bailey Makes Attack On "Radio Priest" In U. S. Senate

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Although his critics have publicly accused him of being allied with the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, the Detroit "Radio Priest," in his attacks on the administration, Senator Huey P. Long, the Louisiana "Kingfish" nevertheless remained silent in the senate during a one-man attack on the priest's policies on national affairs.

The attack was made by Senator Bailey (D) of North Carolina. He accused the priest, whom he called "Coughlin—Not Father Coughlin," of having stepped out of his church into the political arena.

"When a minister of the gospel or a minister of the church comes down into the political arena or goes out with his radio incendiarism and stirs up hate in a distressed world among a suffering people—I think it's not remiss," Bailey stated in explaining he was calling the priest "Coughlin—Not Father Coughlin, with intent."

"Coughlin—Not Father Coughlin—I say it again. Coughlin has crucified the American people upon his damnable ambition. He can't be called father in American politics. In a church he can have his priestly robes and his power of absolution, but when he undertakes to hand a harp or a halo to the American people through politics, then he loses his priestly power."

Presbyterial Has Election

Name Officers At Meeting At First Presbyterian Church Thursday

NEXT SESSION AT SLIPPERY ROCK

New officers, to serve for a term of three years, were elected and installed by the Shenango Women's Presbyterial society directly before the adjournment of the afternoon session of the 60th annual meeting Thursday in the First Presbyterian church. They are:

President—Mrs. George W. Conway, of the Central Presbyterian church, New Castle.

Vice president (New Castle District)—Mrs. Frank Hay, of the Calvary Presbyterian church, East New Castle.

Corresponding secretary — Mrs. Ben Jenkins, of the Central Presbyterian church, New Castle.

Secretary of literature—Mrs. Archibald Davis, of the First Presbyterian church, New Castle.

Secretary of stewardship—Mrs. George Davis, Jr., of Sharpsville, Pa.

Secretary of White Cross—Mrs. J. H. McClelland, of the Westfield Presbyterian church, North Beaver township, Lawrence county.

Children's secretary—Miss Helen Brown, of Ellwood City.

Five hundred women, representing churches in every section of the large Presbytery, were present at the all-day sessions and took great interest in the reports submitted by their officers, the various matters of business transacted, and the addresses delivered by a home mission worker, Dr. Martin Girton, superintendent of the Tucson Indian Training school, and a foreign mission worker, Miss Clara Lloyd, home on furlough from Saharanpur, India.

The day came to a close with a young people's banquet at 6 p. m., and an evening program of worship, music and a second address by Dr. Girton.

Successful Convention

It was a most successful convention in every sense. Because of the good weather an unusually fine representation was able to be present. The cabinet of the First Presbyterian church, of which Mrs. Howard Magill is the efficient chairman, and the presidents of the church societies are members, did an excellent job of arranging for the affair. Every wish of the out-of-town delegates had been anticipated. The spacious church auditorium had been beautifully decorated with an array of brilliant and lovely flowers and ferns at the pulpit, adding pleasurably to the effect.

The theme of the day was "Worship the Lord", and appeared in all parts of the program.

After registration and a meeting of the executive committee, the meeting proper opened at 10 a. m., with Mrs. E. C. Porter, new president of the Presbytery, presiding. Mrs. Porter, who resides at New Castle R. D. 1, and who is of the First Presbyterian church in Ellwood City, has served as the society's president for two terms (six years).

Mrs. John J. McIlvaine of the First Presbyterian church led the worship service. Greetings were brought by Mrs. S. E. McCleary, 91-year-old New Castle resident, and Mrs. James Rugh rendered several much appreciated vocal numbers.

The welcome was brought by Mrs. Howard Magill, chairman of the host church cabinet. Reports of the Presbyterial officers and an address by Dr. Martin Girton of the Tuscon Indian Training school, followed.

Afternoon Session.

Afternoon sessions opened at 1:30 o'clock, with a half hour of literature. At 2 o'clock Mrs. Porter introduced Mrs. J. B. Cutler of Sharpsville, who conducted the worship service. Mrs. Cutler had as the subject of her talk "Prayer".

Roll call revealed that nearly 40 different societies were represented at the meeting. Very large delegations were there from Leesburg, Sharon, Westfield and New Castle. The Patterson Circle of the host church was welcomed as a new auxiliary.

Mrs. Frank Woods of New Castle told a story illustrating how constant interest can be maintained and the best results obtained from a missionary society. The Slippery Rock auxiliary then offered an interesting dramatization of the study book, showing the new doorways that are being opened for the women of the East.

The principal address of the afternoon was made by Miss Clara Lloyd, a missionary on furlough from Saharanpur, India, who had a colorful story of her life and work among the Hindu and Mohammedan people of that Oriental country.

Miss Lloyd, in a quick and clear manner, described the everyday life in the village of Behat and of her work in the 30 villages of the district. She told of the tent which has been transformed into a reading room for the village people, the clinic conducted regularly, the teaching of Christian hymns in the own language of the people, their interest in the mission victrola, the Sunday church service, their celebration of Christmas and many other interesting details concerning the Indian people.

Install Officers.

After the report of the nominating committee (Mrs. William Duff of Westfield, Mrs. Audley Boak of Mt. Hermon and Mrs. J. B. Cutler of Sharpsville) the body elected the new officers and Mrs. John J. McIlvaine conducted the installation ceremony.

Retiring officers, in addition to Mrs. Porter, are Mrs. B. F. McDowell of Volant, vice president; Mrs. A. A. Young of West Middlesex, secretary; Mrs. O. E. Rhodes, New Castle, secretary of literature; Mrs. William Ferver of Mercer R. D. 1, secretary of stewardship. The secretary of Red Cross, Mrs. Newell McKibben, and children's secretary, Mrs. M. Mayberry, had resigned before the expiration of their terms.

Vice presidents whose terms have not expired are: Mrs. J. B. Cousins of Sharon, Mrs. W. H. Scott of Enon Valley, Mrs. J. H. McClure of New Wilmington; other officers who continue are: Recording secretary, Mrs. Norman Book of New Castle R. D. 5, Princeton church; secretary of missionary education, Mrs. Wilbur Barnett, Ellwood; secretary of oversea hospital work, Mrs. Paul Marshall, Sharon; intermediate senior secretary, Mrs. R. Throop of Bessemer; young people's secretary, Mrs. W. R. Armstrong of Volant; field secretary, Mrs. Howard Magill of New Castle, and treasurer, Mrs. Frank Woods of New Castle.

Mrs. Charles Wilson of Slippery Rock made the announcement that the next meeting of the Shenango Prebyterial will take place in one year at Slippery Rock.

Mrs. W. J. Holmes of West Middlesex read the "Courtesy".

The benediction was given by Dr. S. A. Kirkbride of New Wilmington, Presbyterian pastor-at-large, and the afternoon session was ended.

At 6 p. m. the final session of the day opened with a young people's banquet in the church dining room, attended by a crowd of about 175 persons.

Mrs. R. Throop of Bessemer, the young people's secretary, presided. The worship service was in charge of the New Castle young people. The Leesburg Christian Endeavor offered an interesting dramatization of study books. The pep singing was led by Mrs. John J. McIlvaine. A number of short talks were given.

Of especial interest was the presentation of a banner to the Dorcas class of the First Presbyterian church for making the best record in missionary work during the year. Dr. Martin Girton, of Tucson, delivered an address, and Thomas Webber pleased the audience with an organ selection.

Benediction was pronounced by Dr. John J. McIlvaine, the new pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Appear In Cast Of Senior Play

"Willie" Leonhart Has Leading Lady's Role In "Growing Up," Next Week

"Willie" Leonhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Leonhart of Cunningham avenue, has the leading lady's role in "Growing Up", the modern comedy chosen by the June graduates of the senior high school as their class play. She is one of the two children in the MacIntyre family in whose home all the action takes place. It is a delightful home, scholarly, correct, affectionate, and "psychological", in fact, Terry MacIntyre and her brother are the product of psychological theory that has gotten out of hand. Terry, the tom-boy, grows up on the stage to an amusing infatuation for one of the boys of the neighborhood with whom she used to play corner-lot base ball. Probably most of the mothers who have daughters in high school will want to see what Mrs. MacIntyre does about it.

Wilhelmina Leonhart

"Tom Schnebly, son of the Rev. and Mrs. D. C. Schnebly of the Seventh Ward, plays opposite "Willie" Leonhart as Brian, the friend of her brother on whom she looks with especial favor. Brian learns with some encouragement from Terry how to put off the hail-fellow-well-met manner of the playground for the gallantry of a young man who has a sweetheart. His involuntary lapses from one character to the other give him concern and his audience amusement. These situations are Tom's delightful contributions to the hilarious comedy of "Growing Up."

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., April 26—After setting fire to her father's barn, Virginia Clark, 4, calmly walked up to her mother and handed her the box of matches she had used.

Man Who Built Successful "Death Trap" Will Learn Fate At Hands Of Jury Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 26.—Old John Nardo, who built a "death trap" in his barn, a device which killed a man he claimed betrayed his 17-year-old daughter, today may know his fate at his murder trial here.

Nardo is accused of having killed William Cavin, county road foreman. The case is expected to go to the jury after closing arguments are completed.

Ingenious Device.

The state virtually admits that Nardo was asleep at the time of the alleged slaying, but it contends Nardo had built the death trap specifically to kill Cavin, whom he declared had annoyed himself and his daughter with threats for the past 10 years. Marian Nardo, his daughter, a divorcee, is now 27.

Yesterday after the state and defense had rested, the jury was taken to the barn on Little Sewickley creek road where the tragedy occurred. They were shown a sign which had printed on it "no trespassing". Cavin, it was claimed by the defense, had been jerking down these signs and annoying the daughter. By a clever device, Nardo rigged up a gun that would fire if the sign was disturbed. Cavin, the defense said, trespassed and was shot fatally.

Queen Goes By Camel Caravan On $10,000,000 Pilgrimage To Mecca

(International News Service)

BOMBAY,—Scores of camels, dozens of elephants, and a number of motor-lorries will soon be trailing the deserts of Arabia in a modern Arabian night procession.

They will carry loads of food and clothing and an electricity plant for the consort of the multi-millionaire Nizam of Hyderabad. She is going to Mecca on a pilgrimage of faith that will cost $10,000,000. The electric plant will be set up at each stop for her convenience.

For the first time in the history of the Nizam's family the consort of the ruling prince will be traveling "on her own."

Her name is Dhulan Pasha Begum Saheba. She is an accomplished poet and an expert weaver of silk material. Her hobby is the cultivation of roses.

Her caravan will be staffed with 200 men and women. It will carry casks of spring water for the Begum Saheba.

She has made a special garment to wear at the shrine. It is woven of silk grown in her own garden. Its border is of jewels. It is valued at $50,000.

In the train of this royal pilgrim will be a number of peacocks. All the incense burned in the mosque must be wafted by a bunch of their feathers. It is believed they possess the peculiar power of warding off evil spirits.

A palace where the Prophet is believed to have lived for a while has been secured in Mecca for the visitor. In its 200-acre garden her retinue will live in tents. It will be a city in miniature illuminated at night by electricity.

The Begum Saheba will pray for a fortnight almost without a break. The Koran will be read during that time day and night.

The Nizam, her husband, who has visited the U. S., is one of the 10 richest men in the world.

WARSAW, Mo.—Wild geese, unlike humans, observe a very strict "marriage" code—there is no such thing as divorce among the fowl once they are mated, J. K. Halley, custodian of a goose preserve, has found. "When a wild goose chooses a mate," said Halley, "it is a life long union. In the case of the death of either the goose or the gander neither will ever mate again."

ENDURES FIVE DAYS OF LIVING DEATH AFTER SHOOTING SELF

(International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 26.—Despondent over his failure to obtain work, William Slack, 29, a transient painter of Fort Erie, Ont., shot himself beside a creek near Galloway, Mo., then lay paralyzed for five days and nights without food until discovered by two fishermen.

He had two bullet wounds in his neck and he was in an emaciated condition. His throat and legs were paralyzed. His chest and sides were sunburned, indicating his long exposure. He could not talk above a whisper. At a hospital here he told his story.

"It was hell," he said. "The first bullet didn't seem to affect me, so I re-loaded and shot again. This time the bullet seemed to paralyze me. I fell down and rolled to the foot of the hill, which was near the bank of the creek.

"For a while I seemed dazed; then I must have lost consciousness. I guess it was hours later that I awakened, because it was dark. That was where hell started in. I went through agony that cannot be described.

"I was thirsty but couldn't crawl to the stream. I was hungry, but there was no hope of getting food. At times, I could hear voices of people passing and autos. But I couldn't call for help. My voice had faded to a whisper.

"Sometimes I would go into crazy sleep and dream that I was being given a drink. Then I'd wake up, my mouth dry as a desert, and see the stream, but couldn't get to it.

"I wouldn't be here today if a little strength hadn't come to me the morning before the fishermen found me. That morning I found I could use my arms a little. Slowly and painfully I raised in a sitting position, then crept along, snake fashion, to the stream. I was expecting to drink the creek dry, but two little sips were all I could take—I couldn't swallow. The only other water I tasted was rain that fell into my mouth on two nights.

"I had given up all hope of being rescued and was wanting to die when I saw the fishermen. I hadn't been able to make a vocal sound, but I knew that was my only chance, slim as it was. The men were not walking in my direction.

"I put all the strength I had in my throat and tried to yell. I did make some kind of a noise. It attracted the fishermen and they came to me."

Asked if he wants to recover. Slack said: "It doesn't make much difference to me."

The Holy Scriptures

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Psalm 119:97—"Oh how love I thy law! It is my meditation all the day."

(The international uniform lesson on the above topic for April 28 is Deut. 6:4-9; Joshua 1:8-9; II Kings 22:8-20; Neh. 8:1-8; Ps. 19:7-14; Luke 24:25-32; Acts 17:10-12; II Tim. 3:14-17; Heb. 1:1-4, especially Ps. 19:7-14 and II Tim. 3:14-17, the Golden Text being Psalm 119:97, "Oh how I love thy law! It is my meditation all the day.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

God gave the Bible to be a daily guide for old and young in the home. He wants it to be an armament not an ornament in the home, a molding feature and not a moldering fetish. According, God, through Moses, commanded concerning his words, "Thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up." The Bible therefore, is not primarily a book for church or cloister, but for home and family.

The Bible In National Life.

In national life no less than in family life the Bible is to have its place of honor and influence. The great national reformations headed by such godly kings as Asa, Jehosophat, Joash, Hezekiah and Josiah, all grew out of the restoration of God's word to its proper place as the nation's guide-book for king and subjects alike. To those kings who "observed to do all that is written therein" God fulfilled his promise "thou shalt make thy way prosperous and thou shalt have good success." When godless kings disregarded the scriptures and made the captivity a necessary punishment for the nation Ezra and Nehemiah led the way back through reformation fostered by the restoration of the word.

In the 19th Psalm the psalmist first pictures nature as a book through whose pages God gave a revelation of his glory: 'The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament showeth his handywork." Then he turns to the word of God as an instrument for the still more perfect revelation of God's glory: "The law of the Lord is perfect, restoring the soul; the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple. The precepts of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the Lord is pure enlightening the eyes." Then the psalmist passes from God's revelation in nature and scripture to that of experience. And here for the first time is sounded a discordant note, for man alone is out of tune with God: "Who can understand his errors? Cleanse thou me from secret faults." His cry for harmony of experience with the symphony of nature and revelation is voiced thus: "Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength and my redeemer."

Christ Opens the Word.

To the two disciples on the road to Emmaus the risen Christ appeared and matched the facts of his suffering, death and resurrection with the prophecies of scripture of Moses and the prophets and psalmist until their "hearts burned within them while he talked with them by the way and opened to them the scriptures."

The relation of Old Testament and New Testament has been stated thus: "The new is in the old concealed; the old is in the new revealed; the new is in the old contained; the old is in the new explained; the new is in the old latent, the old is in the new patent." Christ is the key that unlocks all scripture. We must find him in his grace and ourselves in our sin in every part of holy scripture.

Stagmatism Case Reported

Rare Case Is Reported Under Observation At Hempstead, N. Y.

(International News Service)

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., April 26.—A rare case of stagmatism, in which wounds appear on the hands, feet and forehead from no apparent external cause, was reported here today.

The subject of this phenomenan, which has puzzled scientists in numerous parts of the world ever since the time of Francis of Assisi, is Mrs. Mary F. Connors, 56.

Wounds appeared on the palms and insteps of Mrs. Connors and red marks on her forehead on the night of February 8, but news of it did not become generally known until today.

Seated in her cottage here, where she resides with her only child, a son, Mrs. Conners displayed the wounds, not yet completely healed, to a reporter.

"I was saying my rosary in bed that night. "When I awoke my fingers were stiff and my hands and feet ached. I found wounds half an inch deep and an inch long on each of my hands and on each instep. They were the marks Christ got on the cross."

The wounds have gradually been healing, Mrs. Connors said, but indications are that scars will remain.

The encyclopedia Brittanica lists St. Francis of Assisi as the first known example of the alleged miraculous infliction of stigmata. Wounds appeared on the hands and feet and on the body of St. Francis while in his cell on Mount Alverno in 1224, the enclyclopedia asserts.

Who Said British Are Unfunny Race

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 26—Lord Gordon Hewart, 65-year-old Lord Chief Justice of England, was sitting in the hearing of a case at the Sussex Assizes at Lewes.

"Is golf an expensive game?" counsel asked a witness.

"It all depends where you are playing and with whom you are playing," was the reply.

"And also whether it is a hot day," added Lord Hewart.

Then counsel mentioned "the nineteenth hole."

"Is that the hole which is sometimes called the alco-hole?' asked Lord Hewart, amid laughter.

UNIQUE PLAN OF CIVIC ADVERTISING

(International News Service)

TARENTUM, Pa., April 26—A unique form of civic advertising has grown from what started among Brackenridge grade school pupils as a mode of training in correspondence and penmanship.

At suggestions of their teachers, the children wrote letters to public school pupils in other parts of the United States in which they described the schools, industries, location and other features of Brackenridge.

Answers, in like, began to flow in from different sections of the country with the result the innovation is becoming routine.

Cultural treat: A series of entertainments by famous musicians, followed by a deficit.

"Slayer" Makes A Big Mistake

(International News Service)

PINE BLUFF, Ark., April 26—"Sheriff, I just killed a man, and I want to surrender," said John von Tungien as he walked in the sheriff's office at Rison.

Meanwhile, the "dead man," Jim Coleman, was swearing out an assault and battery warrant for the arrest of his "murderer." The two men had quarreled and Von Tungien fired several shots at Coleman, and believing him dead, fled in fright.

Tuberculosis In Cattle Now Under Control

Pennsylvania Will Soon Climax Half Century Of Effort To Keep Herds Disease Free

HAS COST OVER EIGHTEEN MILLION

HARRISBURG, April 26.—Pennsylvania by June 1 will reach the goal of nearly a half cetury effort to have all cattle under supervision for the control of bovine tuberculosis, Secretary of Agriculture J. Hansell French announced today after reviewing reports on the prospective tests of the few remaining herds. This historic accomplishment is the result of a 43-year campaign to free Pennsylvania of this disease.

Over $18,000,000 of state and federal funds have been paid to cattle owners as indemnities and over 320,444 cattle reacting to the test have been slaughtered during this period.

A fact of unusual significance is that the first tuberculosis test of herd for the control of bovine tuberculosis in America was performed in Pennsylvania at the request of Joseph E. Gillingham, the owner of a large herd of pure bred cattle near Villa Nova in March, 1892. Gillingham's farsighted determination to maintain his herd on a tuberculosis-free basis is described as the beginning of an important health movement which has since spread into practically every community in the nation.

Mercer, Crawford and Jefferson counties were the first to become accredited areas, in 1924. Butler, Cameron, Clearfield, Indiana and McKean counties followed in 1926, and Columbia, Lawrence and Potter county in 1927. From then on there was an increasing number of counties accredited each year.

Pennsylvania will be one of the first of the leading dairy states to have all cattle tuberculosis tested. The state will not become finally accredited, however, until retests show that tuberculosis has been reduced to less than one-half of one per cent in the 11 counties not yet accredited.

On Court House Hill

An appeal from the decision of Alderman James C. Brice has been taken in the case of John B. Snyder against the Laurel Biscuit Company of 114 North Mercer street. Decision in favor of the plaintiff was rendered for $34.75.

Jury Commissioners George Forrest and B. Frank Thorn, with Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard drew a grand jury yesterday for the June term of quarter sessions court, also two petit Juries one for the second Monday of June and the other for the third Monday.

County Commissioners Clerk, William A. Eakin, announces that the road and school tax duplicates for all boroughs and townships of the county have been completed and are now ready for delivery to the different collectors. Mr. Eakin and his assistants have figured up the amount of taxes due from each taxable. The duplicates for all the city wards have also been completed with the exception of the second ward, and it is expected that it will be ready in a few days.

Under the will of the late Bion W. Cover of this city his property is left to his wife, Anna M. Cover and daughters, I. Bessie Cover, Ruby H. Bright and Alice Perry, share and share alike. Leon H. Cover and Vennor Bright are named as executors.

In the case of the City of New Castle against Harry Rosenblum, in which objections were filed by the County of Lawrence and the City of New Castle school districts to the distribution of the proceeds of a sheriff sale, Judge James A. Chambers has handed down an opinion in which the objections are overruled, and the plaintiff is at liberty to present a motion to have a time fixed for a hearing, as to the distribution of the money.

State Senator George L. Reed, chairman of the state government committee, has announced that he will revive a bill in his committee to place Pymatuning reservoir revenues into a special fund for reclamation purposes. The bill, as proposed, would restore to the Pymatuning project revenues diverted into the general fund. Thousands of dollars have been collected by leasing farms and acreage which was not flooded. This money is now added to the general fund, instead of being used for improvements at the reservoir.

Judge James A. Chambers has handed down an opinion in the case of the People's Savings and Trust Company, use of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company against Frank Herjeczki, in which he stays a writ of execution. There is a mortgage of $1,725 on the Herjeczki property, with interest back to February, 1933, and some accrued taxes. When it was undertaken to sell the property at sheriff's sale, a stay of execution was asked on the grounds that to sell the property now would entail a heavy loss on the defendant. Judge Chambers heard testimony on the reasonable value of the property. His order to stay the writ is contingent on the defendant paying $10 per month on arrearages and $5 per month on delinquent taxes. This is to continue for six months when either party will have the right to ask for some further disposition of the case.

Reduction Of Tax On Realty, League Object

John S. Abel Elected President At Meeting Held In Odd Fellows Hall

JOHN W. PATTISON EXPLAINS OBJECTS

Organization of a New Castle branch of the Tax Justice League of Pennsylvania was effected at a meeting of representatives citizens held in Odd Fellows hall last night. John S. Abel was elected president; L. A. Haug, George Hamilton and C. H. Millholland, vice presidents, and Robert M. Hainer, secretary and treasurer.

John W. Pattison, who is identified with the Union Township Tax Justice League and with the state organization, was the principal speaker of the evening. He outlined the principles of the organization, which are in brief, an effort to lower the cost of government, and take some of the burden of taxation off real estate. It was shown that real estate now carries 85 per cent of the burden. Particular efforts of the league are directed toward easing the burden in real estate.

Leagues have been organized in fifty of the sixty seven counties of the state, with a membership of over a million. A lobby is maintained at Harrisburg, and members are supplied weekly with informations regarding the various taxing measures introduced.

Mr. Pattison showed that much can be done in the way of lowering local taxation if citizens will apply themselves to the task. As an example he cited what has been done in Union township. The first year that an effort was made by the league to reduce the school taxation, ten per cent was cut from the cost and the budget was reduced 25 per cent. The second year another ten per cent cut was made and another cut of 25 per cent in the budget. Mr. Pattison explained at length how this had been accomplished. He also showed how fifty per cent had been cut from the road expense. This was before the Parkinson act went into effect.

The speaker was of the opinion that other townships, boroughs, the county and the city, could cut their cost of government by economy and common sense methods. The league does not believe in jumping upon, and finding fault with public officials, but does believe in getting together in a conscientious and painstaking effort to reduce the tax burden on real estate.

Mr. Pattison and John S. Abel have just returned from Harrisburg, where they visited the Tax League headquarters and conferred with members. They found a strong feeling among legislators and state senators, that something should be done to shift some of the burden from real estate. It is believed that some measures in this direction will be passed at the present session of the legislature.

Mine Employe Is Found Dead Along Railroad Tracks

Investigate Death Of Young Man In Hard Coal Region Today

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 26.—The battered body of Paul Sabol, 28, of Kingston, an employe of the Lance Colliery of the Glen Alden Coal Company at whose operations a strike has been called by the United Anthracite Miners of Pennsylvania, a new union, was found on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad tracks in Edwardsville today. His glove was found on a road bridge above.

The district attorney's office at once began an investigation to learn whether he might be a victim of strike violence, recurrent in this region since the walkout was called February 4. Authorities said, however, he may have been the victim of a hit-run driver or a suicide. Deputy Coroner Hugh Jones took charge of the body. Chief County Detective Richard Powell, assisted by state and municipal police, was in charge of the investigation.

Committees On Banquet To Meet

Reports Will Be Received This Evening By Chairman Ivor V. Davis

SPEED UP PLANS AS DATE NEARS

General Chairman Ivor V. Davis, of the American Legion National Commander's Banquet, has called a meeting of all committees on the banquet for this evening at 8 o'clock in the Legion Home.

With the date of the banquet only two weeks away, the different committees will have to speed up their plans. The early sale of tickets has been very good, and persons expecting to attend are advised that they should make reservations at once. The ticket sale will be stopped several days in advance of the banquet so that the committee will know how many dinners to prepare.

The plans call for a dinner, followed by the program in the auditorium, when National Commander Frank N. Belgrano, State Commander James Isherwood, and Governor George H. Earle will be the speakers, and a dance in the ballroom.

The visitation committee has been busy during the past two weeks under the direction of Chairman Alex Thomas, visiting the different posts of the district, all of whom has indicated their intention of sending big delegations to the annual event here.

Quints' Illness Irks Dionnes

Illness of their quintuplets with common colds has stirred anew the animosity between Ovila Dionne (r.) and his wife, and Dr. Allan R. Dafoe (l.), the babies' physician. Worry of Mrs. Dionne (above) over condition of Marie, tiniest and frailest of the quints, led to demand by Dionne for a specialist to examine them, and Dominion premier granted his request. (Central Press)

Young White Hurdles Race Barriers To Wed Zula Girl

(International News Service)

DUNDEE, Natal,—Willie Frederick Leonhard Hedder has had his way. He has married a native black girl, member of a Zula tribe.

He is a European, born of German parentage 28 years ago. His black bride is Bettinak Mbattah, 22.

Theirs is only the second "mixed marriage" in Africa since the Great War. Under the old Republican laws marriage between black and white is forbidden in the Transvaal and Orange Free State. In Natal and the Cape Province, mixed marriages are permissible under the present "Miscegenation Law."

Permissible—but not encouraged. Hedder had a number of obstacles to overcome.

First of all there were the friends who suggested that he ought to marry a white girl.

To them, he simply replied: "I like a black girl better."

Then there were the banns. Hedder was informed that he would have to get his banns called in a church. But Hedder could find no church that would do it for him.

So he got a special license from the government, an expensive procedure.

He also paid his bride's brother seven head of cattle—an essential formality.

Then, when he arrived with Bettinak, he found that the marriage could not take place. He had not brought the consent of her guardian.

A week later, Hedder reappeared at the court house with his "intended"—and with her guardian's permission.

"Where's the ring?" asked the magistrate.

They had forgotten it.

They left the court house. A few minutes later, they returned—with a fine gold signet ring.

At last they were married.

TWO STATES CUT AUTO ACCIDENTS

(International News Service)

BOSTON, April 26—Reports from the National Safety Council show that Massachusetts and Rhode Island lead the nation in reduction of fatal automobile accidents.

Both of these New England states have a far lower death rate on the highways thus far this year than any other state in the union with the exception of sparsely settled North Dakota.

Governor Signs Weiss Bill Today

Measure Outlaws Imprisonment For Taxes In Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 26—Imprisonment for failure to pay taxes was outlawed in Pennsylvania today when Gov. George H. Earle signed the Weiss bill amending a 101-year-old statute to eliminate its jail features.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Samuel A. Weiss, Allegheny, repeals section 45 of the act of April 15, 1834. In signing the measure, Governor Earle pointed out as "a striking illustration of the effect of the old law" the jailing in Jefferson county of a mother of five children for not paying $6.44 in taxes. She was freed by Judge W. T. Darr. The executive added:

"This new measure abolishes one of the few remaining instances in which imprisonment may result from the non-payment of a debt."

Governor Earle also signed the following bills:

Eberharter, requiring that firemen in third class cities be given one full day of rest each week except in emergencies.

Weiss, two bills changing election laws, one providing that only persons enrolled in a political party can sign a nomination paper, and the other requiring additional copies of primary election returns.

Salus, clarifying the circumstances under which declaratory judgment remedies can be collected.

Southern Senators Keep Up Filibuster

Administration Leaders Getting Ready To Sidetrack Anti-Lynching Bill

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 26. — With administration leaders apparently getting ready to sidetrack the issue, the senate this afternoon was paralyzed again by a southern filibuster against the Wagner-Costigan anti-lynching bill.

A report prevailed that Senator Robinson (D) of Arkansas, majority leader, would move an adjournment of the senate late this afternoon until Monday.

This motion, if it carries, will displace the pending motion of Senator Costigan (D) of Colorado, to consider the anti-lynching bill. On Monday, then, the administration will call up the bonus bill and sidetrack the anti-lynching measure.

White House Police Force Now Staffed With Veterans

By T. N. SANDIFER
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—"Old-timers" who remember President McKinley and "T. R.," dominate the special police force that guard the White House.

The combined total of services of just a few of these veterans would aggregate centuries of patrolling of the famous grounds, of officiating at the doors of the offices or homes of the Presidents.

Five and six-stripers, with each gold stripe representing five years, are well represented. Captain "Dal" Dalrymple, the chief of the force, has seven.

He remembers well President McKinley and the days of '98. When he joined the forcce, handle bar mustaches lent a dignfied touch and the sugar-loaf sun helmets, preserved only in albums today, were the finishing touch to a uniform that was distinctive, even then.

Second in command, and close to the captain's record of service, is Lieut. L. M. Seamon, who joined as a youngtser in 1902, and wears close to 33 years' gold stripes on his dark uniform coat.

Their predecessors include Sergt. Frank Kelly, now retired, who had 40 years' White House service. Others with long records are Officers John M. Brammant, with nearly that long, John Hause, with 35 years, and Henry Gilbert, with nearly 36 years duty there.

These officers are not doddering old chair riders, despite their lengthly service. Every man of them has done his share of patrolling the grounds in the bitter winter nights of Washington. Most of them, including men with several service stripes, still perform such duty.

The White House police represent a picked force. Every man is specifically selected, by the White House secret service heads, on his record. Every man has already served years on a regular police beat, with the regular Washington police.

Most of the present force had overseas service in the World War, in addition to their police experience.

No ordinary police strong-arm methods go with the thousands who annually throng the White House environs. Many trying situations arise constantly, with so many people. An ordinary policeman couldn't handle them. It takes unusual tact, skill in dealing with people. Even those strange, misguided visitors who have turned aside, are handled with finesse.

The White House police is not a large force, but its men not only perform their regular trick of "eight hours on." On entertainment nights, they get several hours extra duty. They are on the job next day, as though nothing had happened.

Autopsies Held On Two Infants Disclose Defects

(International News Service)

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., April 26.—Autopsies performed on two infants who died shortly after birth at the local hospital revealed stomach conditions similar to those found by operating surgeons in the famous cases of little Alice McHenry, of Omaha, Neb., and Sidney Jane Isenberg, of Lewistown, Pa.

A baby boy with an inverted stomach and a heart on the right side was born to Mrs. Lyman Lamason. Part of the intestines and the left lobe of the liver were pushed up into the left chest with the stomach, there was no diaphragm on the left side, and the left lung was collapsed. The child died four hours after birth.

Shirley Ann Winder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Winder, was born without an opening from the stomach into the intestines. She died after six days.

TWO WHITE CROSSES ARE GRIM REMINDER OF AUTO ACCIDENT

(International News Service)

ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 26.—Two white crosses, painted on the scene of automobile fatalities, will serve as constant and grim reminders to many motorists passing the spots where Allentown's two fatal accidents during 1935 occurred.

The plan of marking such spots has been used successfully in many cities throughout the country and it has been reported that the presence of the cross has served to make motorists more cautious.

Plans for such markings were made months ago by police Captain Mensinger of this city, who hopes they will serve as a reminder to motorists that death lurks on every foot of the highway.

Announcing ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH PLUS for the Spring of 1935

An advanced motor fuel of outstanding quality—designed to take full advantage of the greatly increased power and performance built into today's automobiles.

JUST look back for a moment at the cars of 1930, and compare them with the precision-built, high-speed automobiles of today.

Compression ratios averaged 4.8 to 1 in 1930. Today they average 6.2 to 1 . . . giving cars much more power and acceleration, but at the same time causing greater tendency to "knock."

Adding the PLUS to WHITE FLASH

By the addition of lead (tetraethyl) and improved refining, ATLANTIC increased the anti-knock rating of WHITE FLASH so greatly that you can use it in most high-compression engines without detonation ("knock") . . . yet this PLUS-fuel still sells at regular gasoline price.

A Fuel That Will Go 200 Miles an Hour

Top driving speeds in 1930 averaged about 65 miles an hour. Today they are over 80!

We have designed ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH PLUS to take you 200 miles an hour, when cars are built to go that fast and still stay on the ground.

The average maximum horsepower of automobiles in 1930 was 57. Today it is 100. Engine speeds at maximum power have increased from an average of 3020 revolutions per minute in 1930 to 3600 revolutions today.

ATLANTIC aided this great development by providing a fuel that would vaporize easily, rapidly and economically at high engine speeds.

All these improvements have cost money, of course. But ATLANTIC has never hesitated to do anything that would result in a better product, or better value for its customers.

ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH PLUS for the Spring of 1935 is the MODERN fuel for today's great cars . . . by far the finest that ATLANTIC has ever been able to offer you.

This great fuel is definitely designed to bring out the full power and performance that the manufacturer built into your automobile. It has more speed than you can possibly want. And you'll find it very economical, in traffic and on the open road.

Sells at Regular Gasoline Price. TRY IT!

All we ask is that you TRY it. We sincerely believe you will like ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH PLUS much better than the fuel you are using now. Won't you get your first tankful . . . today?

No business can long endure without true service to its customers. We believe that ATLANTIC'S steady growth over 70 years reflects the extra quality which we constantly strive to put in our products.* * * We think of ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH PLUS as something more than "just gasoline." It must definitely be the best . . . so as to meet the emergencies of life, as well as to give dependable and inexpensive service in every-day use.

STAMP NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE

BY JOHNRAE EARL, SEC. NEW CASTLE STAMP CLUB.

The announcement by Postmaster General Farley that there is to be no presidential series of regular postage stamps issued this year will be good news to dealers and collectors throughout the country whose bank account have been greatly depleted through purchase of the various commemorative issues and special stamps already placed on the market. While it has been the policy of the department to revise the regular issues of postage stamps every eleven years, no such change has taken place since the 1922-23 revision. Another one is overdue, therefore.

But now comes the suggestion that instead of a revision of the regular issues of stamps the Post Office Department may act favorably on the large number of requests for the issuance of special stamps commemorating the anniversaries of dates on which various states were settled or admitted into the union. Some states already have been recognized in this way. Others such as Texas, Michigan and Arkansas, have anniversaries coming within the next year or two. Claims of one state, it is argued, cannot be taken care of without the desires of other commonwealth being respected.

It is more than probably, therefore, that the present administration of the Post Office Department will grant as many requests as possible from states that are clamoring for anniversary stamps. Such action, it is believed, would preclude the possibility of any general overhauling of the prevailing issues of regular postage stamps.

San Diego Stamp

It is more than probable that the design for the coming San Diego exposition stamp, due to make its appearance on May 29, next, will contain an airview of the exposition city and its harbor. This is the suggestion that has been made by Senator W. G. McAdoo of California, and he is expected to furnish the necessary air view to the Post Office Department, from which the die will be made at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Connecticut Stamp

Collectors are waiting patiently for Friday and Saturday of this week when the new Connecticut Tercentenary stamps will be placed on sale. On Friday they will be placed on sale at Hartford, Connecticut, and Saturday at the Philatelic agency in Washington. I am planning on being in Washington on Saturday in order to secure these new stamps for those collectors who desire them.

Manchukuo Stamps Are "Nameless"

The new special issue of stamps of Manchukuo is of unusual interest. These stamps are of 2, 4, 8 and 12-fen denominations. They are among the few stamps in the world to be issued that contain no mention of the country of issue. These stamps are for mail originating in Manchukuo and destined for China through the Great Wall, either at Shanahaikwan, the border city, where the wall meets the sea, or at Kupeikow nearer Peiping.

It will be recalled that when Manchukuo was declared independent, the postal service between the new state and China was considerably upset. China resented the establishment of the new state and did not care to continue with its communications with Manchuria. By reason of this condition mail from the north of the Great Wall bearing Manchukuo stamps was regarded as being in the same class as mail without any stamps. Thus the addressee in China had to pay a double postage rate to receive his mail of Manchurian origin.

Hugh Clark of the Scott Stamp and Coin company, says that the imperforate and ungummed sheets of March 15 will be given a distinct listing as special issues.

Postmaster General James A. Farley is quoted as saying at the opening of the Nyack (N. Y.) Hobby show that no more of the imperforate and ungummed sheets would be printed.

New Canadian Ruling

The Canadian Postoffice Department has issued a bulletin to the effect that employes who are stamp collectors cannot be permitted to make undue use of their office or their contacts within the service to obtain, create and manipulate items likely to be of special philatelic interest. It defines such items as stamps, postmarks, cachets and obliterations which would otherwise be unprocurable.

This is going to be my last appeal to you fellow collectors to write to your representatives in Washington urging support of the new "stamp illustration law" which is now before the House of Representatives. This will, if passed, enable United States stamps to be pictured in the Standard catalog, papers, price lists, etc. The passage of this bill will mean much to all collectors and I am asking you to drop a letter to your representative urging support. Every letter counts and it will only take a few minutes of your time to write the letter.

Will Answer Questions

I will be pleased to answer any of your questions regarding stamp collecting. If you have any that you would like answered address your communication to me in care of The News and either mail or drop it into The News Office. Please enclose return postage for your answer.

Alaska's population of Indians and Eskimos is estimated at 30,500, compared with a white population of 29,500.

Prediction Made For Better Times

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—The nation is on the threshold of a great industrial development, according to members of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce.

Speaking before more than 1,500 students representing schools from many eastern cities, George W. Elliot, general secretary of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, admonished the pupils to choose their careers carefully, and to give consideration to occupation offering better remumeration and a larger field to work in than the small list of so-called "stereotyped professions."

Speakers declared almost unanimously that a great era of industrial prosperity is ahead, and that the youth of today by study and planning a career with reason will participate in this development.

Plan Expansion For CCC Camps

CCC Plans Are Being Mapped Out To Expand Corps To 600,000 Men By August 31

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The CCC today mapped out a program to meet a $600,000 daily payroll; a $252,000 daily grocery bill, and a $381,000 daily clothing and maintenance bill as machinery was set in motion for expnsion of the corps to 600,000 men by August 31.

Under the supervision of Director Robert Fechner, the Labor Department, the Veterans' Administration, and the War Department began issuing orders for enrollment of 250,000 new men and 100,000 replacements during June, July and August to augment the normal strength of 375,000 men now in the camps.

More than 100,000 will leave the camps on or before July 1, when the current enlistment period expires.

Many New Camps

The War Department pushed plans for the construction of 1,276 new forest camps to bring the total number of camps to 2,916. Cost of the new camps is estimated at $25,000,000.

Work for thousands of carpenters, and supply orders for millions of dollars worth of lumber, building supplies and hardware will be provided by the expansion program. Money for food will be distributed widely because most of it is spent in the immediate districts of the camps.

Under the expansion program, more than 400,000 of the men will be on work under the Department of Agriculture, on soil erosion, forest service, flood control, and other activities; 140,000 will be assigned to the interior department and more than 22,000 to the War Department. The other camps will be on public health and other services.

Chamois and chamois colored gloves will be exceedingly smart with the tailored suit this spring. Natural and white pigskin will also be worn extensively.

Good citizens are those who believe in making war on crime unless it threatens to hurt business.

Name Of Train Causes Trouble

(International News Service)

JACKSON, Miss.—Christening the South's first streamlined train "The Rebel" has brought a storm of protest to I. B. Tigrett, president of the Gulf, Mobile and Northern railroad.

"Naming the train "The Rebel" is very fortunate" declared Dr. Dunbar Rowland, director of the state department of archives. "It should not be used in the South for very obvious reasons. I proposed the name "Old Hickory" but the railroad chose not to use this name."

Similar complaints have come from the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Colonial Dames, and other similar organizations.

"The name Rebel, was selected without any thought of the Civil war," President Tigrett said.

CAPTURES BURGLAR WITH TOY PISTOL

(International News Service)

DENVER, April 26—John Dillinger escaped from jail by using a toy gun. In Denver, a law-breaker was apprehended through use of a similar weapon.

A man appeared. Short had no gun.

Mrs. Short, sensing the situation, picked up a toy gun from among the playthings of her son, Bobby.

"Don't you move," she ordered, "or I'll shoot."

The intruder stood motionless with his hands over his head while Short called police.

The ceremony was attended by John Heimick, who said Koziar had once held him up in an alley and robbed him of 42 watches. Heimick said he forgave Koziar and spoke kindly to him.

Rev. Floyd Sibert conducted the immersion rites. Koziar stepped into the old tub, which formerly had been used by prisoners before modern plumbing was installed. He went down on his knees and was dipped three times. Then he returned to his cell.

Miss Sally Simpson, U. S. A., MAin 1935

The modern American girl—of course she will live longer than a woman of any former generation, according to dull statistics. But there is something even more important to her than statistics. That is her chance of enjoying a life free from drudgery!

Over our entire land one out of two girls of high school age attend school. While in Europe, only one out of ten have that privilege. Compared to her foreign cousin, Miss Sally Simpson, U. S. A., has great fortune as her birthright.

For example, Miss Sally Simpson, U. S. A., has a far greater chance of living in a home with running water. After a busy day of play or work she may seek relaxation in the bathtub, known the world over as the American luxury. And when the Boy Friend wants a date he has almost one in two chances of reaching her by telephone. For Miss Sally Simpson, in any other country, the convenience of a home telephone is limited to one in eight.

In America this young lady has one in one-and-a-half chances of enjoying the use of an automobile. But her most fortunate foreign cousin has to be content with less than one automobile to every six families.

Miss Sally Simpson, U. S. A., may find two thirds of the homes provided with electric devices. Her foreign cousin can have only one such opportunity in five. If her party dress needs a hasty pressing, 97 per cent of American wired homes possess electric irons. Of the wired homes in the next nearest foreign country only 41 per cent have electric irons.

Merchants and manufacturers are all suitors of Miss Sally Simpson, U. S. A. Her modern and sensible tastes alter styles and bring innovations more certainly than the whims of royal princesses in days gone-by. Then, only girls born to the purple had even one-tenth the luxuries which Miss Sally Simpson, U. S. A., can count part of her everyday life.

She has her favorite lipsticks and powders, her favorite silk stockings and attractive clothes, her favorite shopping places. Her word bears weight in family decisions on purchases of household conveniences, automobiles or vacation trips. She has a decided liking for newspaper advertising as a reliable source of what and where to buy.

In a land where freedom of choice gives such unusual opportunities to Miss Sally Simpson, it is not surprising that she is held in more esteem than elsewhere. She may not be born to the purple in the old-time sense. Even so, bath tubs and bath soap, smart clothes and countless sundry commodities are the American equivalent to purple robes.

Yet, without the popular demand created by advertising, all these things would be as unheard of here as they are to so many of her foreign cousins. Miss Sally Simpson's reliance on American advertising, more than any other force, has given her all the things which make life so full and so pleasant.

LARCENY IS CHARGED ALSO EMBEZZLEMENT AGAINST McDEVITT

W. M. Stevenson of Slippery Rock township has made two informations before Alderman Mantz against Carl A. McDevitt, a laborer in his employ, in which McDevitt is charged with larceny and with embezzlement. McDevitt was arrested by Constable R. B. Morrow, waived a hearing, and in default of bail was committed to jail for the June term of court. It is claimed by Stevenson that McDevitt stole a watch and other jewelry amounting to $250. In the embezzlement case it is claimed that McDevitt collected money for coal furnished the county by Stevenson and failed to turn over the money to his employer.

Man Is Found Dead In Auto

Unidentified Middle-Aged Man Is Found Shot To Death In Parked Auto

(International News Service)

WRENTHAM, Mass., April 26.—Shot through the head, the body of a middle-aged, well dressed man was found today on the back seat of a new Rhode Island registered automobile parked on a lonely wood road leading to Lake Pearl. Blood stains were spattered across the front seat. The weapon was missing.

Chief of Police Perley Dexter notified state police and a squad of detectives arrived at the scene to take photographs and fingerprints.

Legislative Committee Hears Mrs. Lloyd Miller Move For Decentralization

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 26.—Decentralization of the Pennsylvania relief system was recommended here today by Mrs. Floyd Miller, who appeared for the legislative committee probing relief administration in Greene and Washington counties.

Mrs. Miller, vice-chairman of the volunteer relief organization, a body that handled all relief in Greene county before it was taken over by the state, made various suggestions as to how she believed relief should be handled and submitted figures to support her testimony.

She suggested that relief work be taken from the state and turned over to some organization, such as the volunteer group which served Greene county without pay.

Switching her testimony to another phase of the problem, the witness criticized state investigators who she believed to be "too young, and not well enough informed on matters pertaining to relief." She said there were only 2,800 families on relief in this county before the state assumed control.

Mrs. Adolphe Menjou Is Expecting Stork

HOLLYWOOD, April 26.—Hollywood today was excited over the reported announcement of Verree Teasdale, wife of Adolphe Menjou, both stars of the screen, that the stork is due to visit their home some time in the fall.

Miss Teasdale, to whom Menjou was married one year, made the announcement, it was said, as she left the couple's home for a hospital where the actor is recovering from a serious attack of influenza.

SWISS FEEL WAR FEARS NOW TOO

(International News Service)

GENEVA — Tiny Switzerland, hemmed in by Germany, France and Italy, is gravely preoccupied over the tense European situation.

Not content with relying on her mighty mountains and her sharp-shooting militiamen to defend her, the Federal Government at Berne, is considering the unprecedented step of naming a generalissimo of the Swiss Army in peace-time. This measure would require special legislation, but in the opinion of competent Swiss military authorities is necessary to coordinate the defensive preparations of this sturdy nation of 4,000,000.

Upon present laws, Switzerland, or the Helvetic confederation, can have a general-in-chief only in time of war. The last to hold that rank was the late General Ulrich Wille of Berne. Most of the Swiss regiments remained mobilized for the whole period of the war.

Zimmerly denies killing her.

Not that it matters much, but here's further proof of Frank Wallace's assertion he was married to Mae West, who denies it, in Milwaukee in 1911. # CONVICT 19 FOR TROUBLE IN McKEESPORT

PITTSBURGH, April 26.—Nineteen defendants were convicted and two were acquitted here today in connection with disturbances resulting from alleged communistic activities, in McKeesport last September.

Four—Carolyn Hart, Mrs. Mary Alexander, George Alexander and Gus Safis—were found guilty of rioting and inciting to riot. The others were convicted on only one count, inciting to riot.

Miss Hart, 22, and Alexander, 18-year-old high school student, had chained themselves to posts in the business district so they could speak without forcibly being removed by police.

Ted Cole was found not guilty on a charge of rioting and Joseph Deflaris was acquitted on instructions of Judge J. Frank Graff.

During the trial, Prosecutor Russell Adams charged 5,000 persons were endangered when members of the Young Communist League endeavored to stage a mass meeting in McKeesport without a permit.

NEW CASTLE HIGH FOOTBALL TEAM TO PLAY ALIQUIPPA HIGH ELEVEN

First Spring Grid Battle Tonight To Test Local Eleven

Many New Faces On Team This Year, Aliquippa Strong Team

LIGHTS AT Taggart stadium will shine tonight for the first time since last October. The occasion is the first of three spring football games carded for New Castle high "Red Hurricane" by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner. The opposition will be provided by Aliquippa high school. The kickoff is scheduled for 8:15 o'clock. The stands will no doubt be jammed for the inaugural of the spring program.

The fans are anxiously awaiting the kickoff tonight. There is a lot of speculation in town as to just what kind of a team New Castle high will have this year without the Raskowski boy, the Shelloggs, Fleming and others. The answer comes tonight.

Many New Faces.

New Castle high will present many new faces on the team tonight. The backfield will have Cabas at quarter, with Mumford and Cox at the halves, both of these boys are veterans of last year, with "Gobby" DeCaprio at the fullback post. Stanley Kominic is contesting with DeCaprio for the honor of holding down the fullback job and will probably see action tonight. Donegan and Mort, the "pint-sized" haifbacks from George Washington junior high, are anxious to make the team this year and may get chances in the backfield before the game is over.

The line will have Tuscano and Paul Small at the ends, the latter was a guard reserve last year and was converted this year into an end. He is well acquainted with the end job, having played end at Franklin high under Gillaspie. The guard jobs will be in the hands of Harvey Jokinen and either Louis George or Louis Leonard.

Adamo At Center.

At center again will be "Blackie" Adamo, and the pivot job will be well taken care of no doubt, as this boy in his first year proved a sensation not only on offensive but on defense as well, making tackle after tackle in tough games. Adamo was used at guard this year until James Howley was injured, and then shifted back to center again.

The tackles will be taken care of by Frank Crisci and Charles Probst, a couple of "big boys" who have shown a world of stuff in practice.

Taking the team all in all, this year, it is better one than last year as regards spirit, fight and determination. The boys want to win, and with that spirit they will probably get some place.

Aliquippa Strong Team.

Coach Nate Lippe will send an Aliquippa high eleven here that is one of the strongest that has ever represented the valley school. Last year Aliquippa high lost but one game and that was to Ambridge. This year with such boys as Frank Gnup, one of the classiest backs in the valley, on the roster the "Quippians" will be a serious threat for New Castle. Walker, a fleet-footed colored halfback, will also cause the locals a few headaches.

On the line Coach Lippe will present Hribar, a veteran lineman and ranked as the best in the Beaver valley. It is possible that Hribar will be used as a fullback this year and also on the line part of the time. Antonucci and Todora are two other classy linemen with the "Quips". Babich is a veteran end and Wosotowsky is a veteran guard.

Lippe Confident.

Reports from the valley indicate that Aliquippa is coming here tonight with the expectations of being in the game every minute of the time and of giving the New Castle boys a first class shellacking. New Castle won the last time these two schools met by a score of 13 to 2.

"You can bet that my team is going to play rings around New Castle Friday night," said Coach Lippe to Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner in Aliquippa the other evening. Lippe actually believes that the Steelers have a chance to upset the New Castle "Red Hurricane" applecart.

Taggart Field Dressed Up.

Taggart stadium will look like a big league park tonight. Everything is in readiness for the battle. The grassy field presents a beautiful picture. The lights have been renovated and painted up. The press box has undergone repairs. The goal posts have been painted a brighter white. The scoreboard has been fixed up.

But, the biggest improvement is the modern up-to-the-minute team room used by the New Castle boys, with every convenience imaginable and shower baths if you please with pink shaded tile with black borders (ho hum).

New Castle high now boasts of a dressing room and team room second to none in western Pennsylvania. Then in addition the band will use the roof of the team room at the northern end of the field. There is a lovely archway with a big double iron gate.

Expect Big Crowd.

The fans will marvel at the improvements. It makes Taggart stadium look like the real thing.

Well, when Referee D. "Wilson" Merriman blows the whistle to start the proceedings tonight the fans will stand enmasse and applaud the New Castle high "Red Hurricane" team. Show the boys that their efforts in the hot sun are appreciated.

All roads and lanes will lead to Taggaft stadium tonight. Aliquippa will send more than 1,000 fans to the game in event of good weather. Kentucky can have its Derby race, but give New Castle fans the good old football game.

Twelve Teams Represented In City Golf League

Additional Teams Given Until May 1, To Take Out Franchise In League

At the final organization meeting of the New Castle Golf league, held at the Muny course clubhouse last evening, twelve teams were represented, and unless other teams make application for a franchise prior to May 1, this number will comprise the league.

Teams which have asked for a berth in the league are: Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania R. R., Gersons, Hardware Merchants, East Side Service, Rieck-McJunkin, Johnson Bronze, Conn's Market, Shenango Works, Blair Strip Steel, Reynolds, Summers and McCann, and New Castle News.

There is room for two additional teams in the league, and if any teams wish to enter, they must make application to President Arnold Frazier, or Secretary William Twaddle, before May 1, as the schedule will be drawn up at that time, the season opening on May 9.

Rules for the conduct of the league were approved by the team representatives at the meeting last evening, no important changes being noted except that all players who do not have a handicap, must play three nine-hole games and report their attested score to the league officials prior to the opening of the league.

Penn Relays To Commence Today

More Than 2,000 Athletes Will Take Part In Annual Penn Relays In Two Days

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, April 26—The ancient order of baton passers will have their innings today and tomorrow when the University of Pennsylvania stages its 41st annual relay carnival at Franklin Field.

Some 500 colleges, prep, high, Junior high, grammar and parochial schools will set more than 2,000 athletes to take part in 82 scheduled events. All but a mere dozen are relays and there will be more than 60 teams in some of the events.

Glenn Cunningham and Bill Bonthron will not be on hand to stage another mile of the century but there will be so many other champions, near champions and embryonic champions on hand, the two super-milers will not be missed.

Big Entry List

Every section of the country except the far west will be represented and some colleges are sending teams for the first time.

Most of the events are wide open and it would be a foolhardy seer who would dare to predict the outcome. However, it is known that Manhattan College will be powerful in the distance relays: that Maine, Boston College, Manhattan and Michigan State figure close in the two-mile relay; that Columbia, because of Ben Johnson at anchor carries a slight edge in the sprint relay: that New York University, Cornell and Louisiana State are strong in the shuttle event and that the mile race is like Joe Brown's grin—wide open.

Penn cannot be overlooked with Gene Venzke running anchor legs in the distance medley and two-mile relays. Gene may not be able to take Glenn Cunningham but he can spot any other lad now in college five seconds and beat him. Therefore if he is not too far behind when he gets the baton he may bring old Penn down in front.

Event No. 1 is carded for 2:15 this afternoon and the final event for 5:10 tomorrow afternoon. In between those times we should see some great hoofing.

Dodgers Playing "Heads-Up" Ball

Manager Casey Stengel Doesn't Know What To Make Of His Brooklynites

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 26.—With his Dodgers still leading the National League today, the usually talkative sassy Stengel is roving around like a sleepwalker. He acts like the hobo who found a thousand dollar bill and was afraid to try to change it for fear it might be a phoney.

"They're hot right now," was all Casey would say, "and a hot club sometimes forgets to cool off. If my pitching holds up, we'll stay hot for outside the box we're a hundred per cent stronger than we were."

Jimmy Wilson, the Philly pilot, is even stronger for the Dodgers than Stengel is. "If the Dodgers had the Giants' pitching, the Dodgers would breeze home,' says Jimmy. You can forget the Cardinals and Cubs and Pirates. The Giants are the team to beat and if Stengel can dig up another first class pitcher somewhere, he'll make things interesting even for the Giants."

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Officials of the Lawrence County Baseball league today stated that as Jim Martin, schedule-maker, would be unable to complete a draft of the games by Sunday there will be no meeting of the league until 7:30 p. m. Tuesday night. There are 10 clubs in the league. Several times Martin has had to revamp the schedule due to the board of managers voting franchises. When the loop started this season indications were eight teams would be in the league. Carbon made the ninth member, and when Ryantown was selected, the roster was boosted to 10.

Eddie Zivic of Pittsburgh, did not make the grade last night when he milled with Tony Canzoneri, former lightweight champion of the world, in a Pittsburgh ring. The referee stopped the fight in the seventh to save the Pittsburgher. Eddie appeared to have a chance in the first three rounds, but after that it was a question of only how long Zivic could last. Zivic slugged with Tony in the fourth and was wobbly on his pins when the round ended. Canzoneri dropped Zivic twice for counts of eight in the sixth, and when Zivic took several blows without a return in the seventh, Referee Red Robinson stopped the bout.

Fight fans throughout the world will be pleased to learn that Sam Langford, known a score years ago as Boston's Tar Baby, and whom in his day was one of the greatest heavyweight fighters the world has had, can see again. Sam lost the sight of one eye after he received a blow from Fred Fulton. About five years ago he lost the sight of his other eye, but thanks to the efforts of a New York physician the Bostonian can now see. Blindness has been the bugaboo of fighters for many, many years. Joe Shurgue was blinded by a glove lace and Pete Herman, a former bantamweight champ, is blind. Terry Mitchell, who once fought under the banner of Jimmie Dime, received an injury that blinded him for a time and there are many other boxers who have received injuries that affected their eyesight. News that Sam's eyesight has been restored will be especially pleasing here where he was known. Years ago Langford fought and won from Tom McMahon in a California bout. Tom was one of the few fighters who floored Sam. However, Langford got up from the floor and rolled McMahon and the referee stopped the fight, in the fifth or sixth round if recollection serves correctly.

Drake Relays Start Today

Over 3,000 Young Mid-West Athletes Gather At Des Moines For Annual Meet

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(International News Service Sports Writer)

DES MOINES, Ia., April 26.—Three thousand track and field athletes, among them a potential record-breaker in every event but one, opened the twenty-sixth annual Drake relays today.

Old-timers such as Maj. John L. Griffith, who founded the meet, and Coach Hank Schulte of Nebraska, who has attended 22 of them, were ready to argue there is not a more formidable list of track meet records in the country.

Yet, with the exception of the shot put, each event had at least one entry credited with a better time, height or distance than the existing Drake mark. Chances appeared bright for the hosting of one or two world records as the stars swing into action for the annual games.

Among the brightest of the individual on hand were Jesse Owens, the Ohio State negro, and Glen Cunningham, the world champion miler late of Kansas. Owens is counted on for record performances in the 100-yard dash and the broad jump.

Besides ironing out an old grude with Glenn Dawson, the Oklahoma star who has twice beaten him, Cunningham hoped to nip the world's record of 3:00.6 in the three-quarter mile.

Tony Canzoneri Defeats Zivic

Former Champion Administers Terrific Beating To Pittsburgh Boy

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 26.—Tony Canzoneri, former champion, today had administered a licking to Eddie Zivic, local lightweight, and it didn't take much effort to do it. The bout was stopped early in the seventh round to save Eddie from further punishment.

During the first three rounds Eddie thought he had a chance but fans thought Canzoneri carried him for the next three until the crushing climax. Eddie took two eight-counts in the sixth round.

Tiger Joe Randall, Elizabeth, took a unanimous decision over Frankie Hughes, Terre Haute, in another eight-rounder. Jimmy Gilligan decisioned Sammy Paris in the four-round curtain-raiser. Ralph Gizzy won a decision over Billy Cohn in the second four-round event.

Soviet Russia expects its output of gold to lead that of South Africa within the next two years, making it the world's leading producer of the yellow metal.

Pitt Professor Scores Athletics

"No Such Thing As Amateur In College Athletics," Says Professor Tyson

By FRANCIS F. HEALY
(International News Service Sports Writer)

PITTSBURGH, April 26.—There was no proverbial "storm of protest" at the University of Pittsburgh today over Dr. Francis D. Tyson's announcement that there is no such thing as an amateur in college athletics and all of them are really professionals.

In fact, there was only a gentle zephyr as an aftermath with heads and coaches of the institution warily sidestepping the issue. From some professors Dr. Tyson received partial support, from others a well-known, "I don't care to discuss it," attitude. Still other members of the higher learning moduls said Dr. Tyson was wrong.

Stick To Economics

As an economics professor, they as much as said, Dr. Tyson should stick to economics and let athletics alone. Dr. Tyson said he didn't care—that it was his opinion athletes worked for the university, brought in big gate receipts and hence should be paid.

John B. (Jock) Sutherland, gridiron coach at Pitt, grumbled good-naturedly and remarked that "Dr. Tyson was trying to apply a new theory of economics to football."

"Economics and football don't mix," he said, taking exception to Dr. Tyson's statement there was "too much hysteria over football."

John Weber, business manager of the university, thought the idea of paying athletes had some excellent points.

Many Limitations

"But there would have to be many limitations," he added cautiously. "There might be abuses involved."

Dr. Tyson was a trifle indignant: "There are no abuses involved in awarding degrees to scholars. Why not award degrees to athletes?

"Anyway, a university today is more of a fraternal organization than an institution of learning."

At first we doubt it; then we think it a great truth; and at last, being used to it, we call it a platitude.

Rookies Pitch Low-Hit Games

PIRATES FOLD UP TO CINCINNATI

By TONY PUGLIESE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 26.—For seven and one-third innings over at Ebbets Field yesterday, old man destiny rode on every ball sent winging its merry way plate-ward from the mound occupied by the Dodgers' young change-of-pace-artist, Johnny Babich.

Philadelphia's Phils stepped up to the dusty Ebbets Field pan one by one to wave senselessly at Johnny's offerings, and for the said seven and one-half frames, sat right down aagin.

Allows One Hit

Then lo! a Philistine appeared in the person of Mike Haslin, a utility infielder, who sent a single bouncing over the greensward just out of reach of Linus Frey. It was the only hit of the game for the Phils, and holding any big-time outfit to only one hit, even the Phils, is no mean accomplishment for a youngster in his second year up. Meanwhile the Dodgers mauled the ball freely to garner 12 hits, shading the Pennsylvania pushovers 6 to 0. Joe Stripp featured the Brooklyn attack, hitting safely four times in four trips to the plate.

Wilshire In Shape

Another new-comer, Lefty Wilshire, Philadelphia Athletics rookie, saw the phantom form of undying glory approach within flirting distance when he held the Washington Senators hitless for six innings, only to see the roseate dream die when Fred Sington and Lyn Lary, ex-Yankee infielder, reach him for singles in the seventh, making the only two Senator hits of the game. The A's won 10-0, however, and even a Dean doesn't get a shut-out every day.

At the Polo Grounds, "Tarzan" Parmelee was also stingy with hits, yielding only three, one of which was a four-sacker by Wally Berger, Boston Brave center fielder. Aided by Mel Ott's third homer of the year, Parmelee won out for the New York Giants, 2 to 1.

Pirates Defeated

Benny Frey, Cincinnati hurler, handed the Pittsburgh Pirates a coat of whitewash, shutting them out 6 to 0, and allowing only six hits. Alex Kampouris helped him chalk up the victory driving in three Cincinnati runs, while the second baseman himself scored three more.

A couple of days ago Dizzy Dean went to the mound late in the game to save the cause of the Cardinals. He had his ears pinned back and was charged with the defeat. Yesterday Paul, the St. Louis star's younger brother suffered a similar fate when he went in in the eighth and yielded a run, before retiring in favor of Heusser. The Chicago Cubs aided by Chuck Klein's homer in the fifth with two on base, beat the Cards 7 to 5.

Indians Win

The Chicago White Sox humbled Schoolboy Rowe, Detroit Tiger ace, pounding out nine hits and as many runs to defeat the American League champions 9 to 8 for the third successive time.

Hal Trosky's homer in the seventh with Earl Averil on base gave the Cleveland Indians a 7 to 6 win over the St. Louis Browns. The four sacker came when the Indians were a run behind. Sam West of the Browns hit a homer with all the stations occupied.

The New York Yankees pounded five Boston pitchers for 12 hits, and with the help of three errors by Bill Werber, Red Sox third baseman, won out 12 to 4, to even the opening hub series. Despite yesterday's barrage, no Yankee is among the first 15 in American League batting.

Correct this sentence: "Style or no style," said she, "I won't try to change myself if it means risking my health."

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

CHATTERING SHORTSTOPS

When the New York Giants purchased Dick Bartell from Philadelphia, they landed more than a good fielder and consistent hitter. They bought the spark plug of the National league, a shortstop who spouts off at the mouth from the first to the last pitch of every ball game.

Chattering shortstops seem to be very valuable assets, especially in the senior circuit. Bill Terry and his Giants won the 1933 pennant and world's series with Blondy Ryan playing short. The St. Louis Cardinals won the world's championship last year with Lippy Leo Durocher performing between second and third.

Pep, chatter, dash and color apparently play a very important part in the success of both of these men since they lack hitting ability entirely. In 1933 Ryan was considered one of the stars of the game, while Durocher last seeason captained the Cardinals in addition to playing short for St. Louis in all but eight of the games.

Next to Hubbell and Terry, Ryan received more publicity than any man on the 1933 champion Giants. Yet there were five shortstops in the league ahead of Blondy in fielding, and as a hitter he couldn't bust a balloon with a shillalah.

In spite of weak hitting and only average fielding, the former Holy Cross athlete proved to be the tonic needed by the Giants to pep them up for the pennant drive. Fans spent hours talking about a boastful telegram sent by Blondy to his manager, while his double-play raps, strike outs, and easy rollers were all forgotten.

Last season Noisy Durocher duplicated Ryan's performance. He expressed himself loudly and frequently in words although his bat was silent a great part of the time. Lippy Leo batted only .260 and finished below English, Jurges and Urbanski in fielding, but he talked a great game for the entire infield.

It is now up to Dick Bartell to continue the magical spell of chattering shortstops. Dick can hit better than either Ryan or Durocher and his gift of gab is every bit as good so maybe he'll talk enough to convince the aging Terry, Critz, Fitzsimmons and Jackson that they can carry on at least through the present campaign.

The Giants have had good ball players since Terry has been the manager but they have never been overly supplied with color and glamour. They have Hubbell and Terry, and they had Blondy Ryan, yes, but that doesn't compare with many other championship clubs of the past in regard to color. Two or three colorful players don't always make an entire team glamourous.

Ott is a great player, for instance, but he is not a colorful player. The veterans, Jackson and Critz, also need a youth to perform between them to instill the fire and dash of combat. No one can fill the bill better than the cocky, effervescent and youthful Bartell. He will add a little of the same kind of asset that the Cards have aplenty in the persons of Diz, Daz, Pepper, Ducky, Lippy and the Fordham Flash.

Capacity Crowd Delighted With Senior Hi Play

JUDGE PRODUCTION AS ONE OF BEST

Cast Of Nine Gives Notable Characterization At Lincoln Auditorium

ELLWOOD CITY, April 26.—Evidently the public did not consider advance predictions of the Senior class play, "The Family Upstairs," as mere idle words, for Lincoln auditorium was filled to capacity Thursday evening. Judging from the continual burst of laughter, and applause between acts, it was a most profitable and enjoyable two hours spent.

There was no exaggeration when person after person proclaimed it was one of the best amateur productions seen here. There was not one dull moment in the play from the time the curtain went up. The cast of nine covered themselves with glory with their characterizations. The production is another feather in the caps of Arthur D. Webster and Miss Beatrice Brunton, factulty members, who were the directors and largely responsible for its success.

The play was fast moving and replete with humorous incidents and typical family situations. The plot was based around the efforts of the Heller family, especially mother, to marry off their eldest daughter, Louise. The family was certainly worried when Louise had reached the age of 21 and still had no steady beau. When finally a gentleman friend did call Mother Heller went out of her way to make a deep impression on this prospect by telling a few little "white lies." It so happened that Louise was secretly engaged to this gentlemen, Charles Grant, a clerk in the bank, and mothers efforts to sell her daughter and family completely gummed up the works. Father Heller finally put his foot down on such tactics and ordered his wife and the entire family to shut up while he straightened out the situation, and which he successfully did by telling the truth.

Who would think that the lovely June McBride was a dignified Senior about to graduate, after watching her portrayal of Annabelle, the baby sister. She was the typical kid, reluctant to do errands or practice her piano lessons. And just like kids caused some undue embarrassment to Louise and her family, when children should be seen and not heard.

Willie Heller, the red headed brother, played by Jack Liebendorfer, also was no prize package if you take the word of his dad. Willie quit school to go to work, but it seemed that he and "work" were not on speaking terms, for it was a waste of too much energy to read the want ads in the paper. He was at the dangerous age of 17 when all the world and the girls in it were his. Willie was aspiring to be a politician but had his mind changed by dad. Between Willie, dad, mother and baby sister, the audience was given no rest from laughing.

Miss Peggy Magee as Emma Heller played a remarkable role, as the hard working, dutiful, loving and ambitious mother. In the proper enviornment her actions would be like that of a Park avenue society woman when she was endeavoring to impress young Charles Grant.

Jack Steckman as Joe Heller, the father, delighted the audience with his characterization. He was a hard working father who loved his home and family and ruled them wisely and with an iron hand. There was no dilly dallying around when dad wanted something done.

Miss Ruth Croft as Louise Heller and Robert Liebendorfer as Charles Grant provided the romance for the play and were in the thick of the plot. Louise was a sensible girl of 21 who knew what she wanted and made it known to her family that she would live her own life. Charles Grant was impressive as an understanding young gentleman who was deeply in love with Louise.

Minor roles were played by Miss Louetta Nicholson as Miss Callahan, the dressmaker; Dorothy Bauer as Mrs. Grant; and Scott Richards as Herbert Grant.

The entire scene of the production took place in the apartment of the Heller family.

After the show the cast, directors, and various committees held a party at the Kaufman Hotel in Zelienople.

The subject was presented in the form of two reels of moving pictures and was given by Messrs Chester Hall and George Herrold.

The Rotarians filed out of the room looking very much as if they had been up to see the principal in his office, and as if they were truly sorry for ever driving over 35 miles an hour, and as if they would certainly be very good boys from now on.

The meeting next week will be a ladies' night out at the Slippery Rock church.

FLEETWING Dewberry wants to give a big hand to the boys who are trying to get the old steel mill started. They realize if the steel mill goes that it will be but a short time until the tin mills and the can works will go too. Then what will all these gasoline stations in town do? Lewis and the boys were down to New York the other day to see the steel officials and maybe we will hear some good news before long. And the best news we have today is that Fleetwing gas is still being improved and business is picking up. It will have to for the Mrs. has decided she wants new outfits for herself and the 8 kids. 1t—6

Stock Prices Advance Today

Soaring World Silver Prices Provide Stimulant For Stock Market

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 26.—Soaring world silver prices provided fresh stimulus for a broad stock market advance today with oils and rails participating. Trading continued active.

Silver King featured the silvers, rising more than 2 points. American Smelting, Cerro De Pasco and U. S. Smelting advanced further.

A feature in the specialties was heavy dealings in radio common, one block involving 7,500 shares. The preferred B was buoyant.

Utilities gave ground and steels were fractionally lower. Motors and industrials were quiet.

Foods and liquors showed no recovery. Farm stocks were firm, aided by improvement in grains. Rails improved slightly.

WHAT ONE "IDEAL WOMAN" IS LIKE

(International News Service)

BOSTON,—What's an ideal girl like?

The "ideal girl" chosen at Simmons College, Miss Connie Dort, the kind of girl who can cook like mother, but at the same time is as athletically inclined as any other girl in this day and age, friends declare.

Connie, who lives in Newton, learned to cook, sew and knit. She is a college senior.

Her chiefs likes are "the fog coming in from the sea," and hiking in the woods.

Dislikes—what few of them she would admit having—are: loud voices, New England boiled dinners, the color orange, and the odor of cigars.

Public enemies can be jailed or shot. Heaven protect us from the idiots who mean well.

FLOWERS MAY CASCADE DOWN IN JABOT EFFECT

There are many ways of wearing fresh flowers. For instance, with a high-necked dinner gown it is smart to wear them, as shown left, in jabot effect, cascading from the throat. Sweet peas and roses are worn here. A shoulder bouquet of red camellias and streamers of valley lilies is sophisticated, as shown right. Orchids worn in the hair for the dance are safe from crushing, as pictured inset center. The orchid stems are wired, wrapped in matching ribbon and fit the head.

How 3,000 Died in Formosa Catastrophe

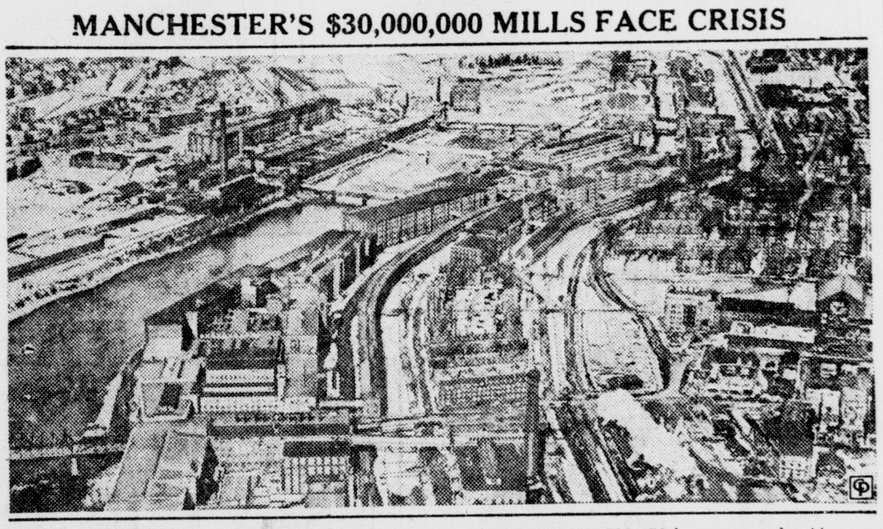
Photograph taken during a recent previous earthquake in Taihoku, Formosa, which likewise took heavy toll of lives, shows how the box-like homes of the natives are leveled to structures of cards by the tremblers. This explains the heavy loss of life. Tremblers of similar proportions caused far less damage in U. S., with its stronger buildings. (Central Press)

MANCHESTER'S $30,000,000 MILLS FACE CRISIS



Residents of Manchester, N. H., and neighborhood have joined in a protest to the federal government against wage differentials favoring southern mills, the cotton processing tax and increasing textile imports from Japan, pointing out that Amoskeag mills, shown in the air view above, face the threat of extinction. In Manchester, city of 80,000, the Amoskeag payroll last year was $6,400,000. Many New England mills have closed recently, and the Amoskeag company has laid off more than 3,000 of its 12,250 workers. The mills, founded in 1831, and reported to be a $30,000,000 concern, extend on both sides of the Merrimack river for almost a mile. At a recent meeting it was reported the company lost $1,008,458 last year, and paid a processing tax of $1,274,173. President Roosevelt has appointed a commission of four cabinet members to study the textile situation. There is a belief in official circles that further increase in the tariff simply would decrease business still further, while cotton farmers would fight any efforts to reduce the processing tax.

One-Woman Campaign vs. Death

Mrs. Violet Van Der Elst, British millionaire's wife, is continuing her campaign for abolition of capital punishment unaided, and without much encouragement, despite failure of her "sitting strike." She parked her car in front of prison where condemned man was being held, broadcasting attacks on authorities by loud-speaker, and refused to leave until police moved her and car by force. She hired demonstrators to parade before other prisons. (Central Press)

Tuberculosis In Cattle Now Under Control

Pennsylvania Will Soon Climax Half Century Of Effort To Keep Herds Disease Free

HAS COST OVER EIGHTEEN MILLION

HARRISBURG, April 26.—Pennsylvania by June 1 will reach the goal of nearly a half cetury effort to have all cattle under supervision for the control of bovine tuberculosis, Secretary of Agriculture J. Hansell French announced today after reviewing reports on the prospective tests of the few remaining herds. This historic accomplishment is the result of a 43-year campaign to free Pennsylvania of this disease.

Over $18,000,000 of state and federal funds have been paid to cattle owners as indemnities and over 320,444 cattle reacting to the test have been slaughtered during this period.

A fact of unusual significance is that the first tuberculosis test of herd for the control of bovine tuberculosis in America was performed in Pennsylvania at the request of Joseph E. Gillingham, the owner of a large herd of pure bred cattle near Villa Nova in March, 1892. Gillingham's farsighted determination to maintain his herd on a tuberculosis-free basis is described as the beginning of an important health movement which has since spread into practically every community in the nation.

Mercer, Crawford and Jefferson counties were the first to become accredited areas, in 1924. Butler, Cameron, Clearfield, Indiana and McKean counties followed in 1926, and Columbia, Lawrence and Potter county in 1927. From then on there was an increasing number of counties accredited each year.

Pennsylvania will be one of the first of the leading dairy states to have all cattle tuberculosis tested. The state will not become finally accredited, however, until retests show that tuberculosis has been reduced to less than one-half of one per cent in the 11 counties not yet accredited.

On Court House Hill

An appeal from the decision of Alderman James C. Brice has been taken in the case of John B. Snyder against the Laurel Biscuit Company of 114 North Mercer street. Decision in favor of the plaintiff was rendered for $34.75.

Jury Commissioners George Forrest and B. Frank Thorn, with Sherriff Edward D. Pritchard drew a grand jury yesterday for the June term of quarter sessions court, also two petit Juries one for the second Monday of June and the other for the third Monday.

County Commissioners Clerk, William A. Eakin, announces that the road and school tax duplicates for all boroughs and townships of the county have been completed and are now ready for delivery to the different collectors. Mr. Eakin and his assistants have figured up the amount of taxes due from each taxable. The duplicates for all the city wards have also been completed with the exception of the second ward, and it is expected that it will be ready in a few days.

Under the will of the late Bion W. Cover of this city his property is left to his wife, Anna M. Cover and daughters, I. Bessie Cover, Ruby H. Bright and Alice Perry, share and share alike. Leon H. Cover and Vennor Bright are named as executors.

In the case of the City of New Castle against Harry Rosenblum, in which objections were filed by the County of Lawrence and the City of New Castle school districts to the distribution of the proceeds of a sheriff sale, Judge James A. Chambers has handed down an opinion in which the objections are overruled, and the plaintiff is at liberty to present a motion to have a time fixed for a hearing, as to the distribution of the money.

State Senator George L. Reed, chairman of the state government committee, has announced that he will revive a bill in his committee to place Pymatuning reservoir revenues into a special fund for reclamation purposes. The bill, as proposed, would restore to the Pymatuning project revenues diverted into the general fund. Thousands of dollars have been collected by leasing farms and acreage which was not flooded. This money is now added to the general fund, instead of being used for improvements at the reservoir.

Judge James A. Chambers has handed down an opinion in the case of the People's Savings and Trust Company, use of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company against Frank Herjeczki, in which he stays a writ of execution. There is a mortgage of $1,725 on the Herjeczki property, with interest back to February, 1933, and some accrued taxes. When it was undertaken to sell the property at sheriff's sale, a stay of execution was asked on the grounds that to sell the property now would entail a heavy loss on the defendant. Judge Chambers heard testimony on the reasonable value of the property. His order to stay the writ is contingent on the defendant paying $10 per month on arrearages and $5 per month on delinquent taxes. This is to continue for six months when either party will have the right to ask for some further disposition of the case.

White House Police Force Now Staffed With Veterans

By T. N. SANDIFER
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—"Old-timers" who remember President McKinley and "T. R.," dominate the special police force that guard the White House.

The combined total of services of just a few of these veterans would aggregate centuries of patrolling of the famous grounds, of officiating at the doors of the offices or homes of the Presidents.

Five and six-stripers, with each gold stripe representing five years, are well represented. Captain "Dal" Dalrymple, the chief of the force, has seven.

He remembers well President McKinley and the days of '98. When he joined the forcce, handle bar mustaches lent a dignfied touch and the sugar-loaf sun helmets, preserved only in albums today, were the finishing touch to a uniform that was distinctive, even then.

Second in command, and close to the captain's record of service, is Lieut. L. M. Seamon, who joined as a youngtser in 1902, and wears close to 33 years' gold stripes on his dark uniform coat.

Their predecessors include Sergt. Frank Kelly, now retired, who had 40 years' White House service. Others with long records are Officers John M. Brammant, with nearly that long, John Hause, with 35 years, and Henry Gilbert, with nearly 36 years duty there.

These officers are not doddering old chair riders, despite their lengthly service. Every man of them has done his share of patrolling the grounds in the bitter winter nights of Washington. Most of them, including men with several service stripes, still perform such duty.

The White House police represent a picked force. Every man is specifically selected, by the White House secret service heads, on his record. Every man has already served years on a regular police beat, with the regular Washington police.

Most of the present force had overseas service in the World War, in addition to their police experience.

No ordinary police strong-arm methods go with the thousands who annually throng the White House environs. Many trying situations arise constantly, with so many people. An ordinary policeman couldn't handle them. It takes unusual tact, skill in dealing with people. Even those strange, misguided visitors who have turned aside, are handled with finesse.

The White House police is not a large force, but its men not only perform their regular trick of "eight hours on." On entertainment nights, they get several hours extra duty. They are on the job next day, as though nothing had happened.

Autopsies Held On Two Infants Disclose Defects

(International News Service)

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., April 26.—Autopsies performed on two infants who died shortly after birth at the local hospital revealed stomach conditions similar to those found by operating surgeons in the famous cases of little Alyce McHenry, of Omaha, Neb., and Sidney Jane Isenberg, of Lewistown, Pa.

A baby boy with an inverted stomach and a heart on the right side was born to Mrs. Lyman Lamason. Part of the intestines and the left lobe of the liver were pushed up into the left chest with the stomach, there was no diaphragm on the left side, and the left lung was collapsed. The child died four hours after birth.

Shirley Ann Winder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Winder, was born without an opening from the stomach into the intestines. She died after six days.

TWO WHITE CROSSES ARE GRIM REMINDER OF AUTO ACCIDENT

(International News Service)

ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 26.—Two white crosses, painted on the scene of automobile fatalities, will serve as constant and grim reminders to many motorists passing the spots where Allentown's two fatal accidents during 1935 occurred.

The plan of marking such spots has been used successfully in many cities throughout the country and it has been reported that the presence of the cross has served to make motorists more cautious.

Plans for such markings were made months ago by police Captain Mensinger of this city, who hopes they will serve as a reminder to motorists that death lurks on every foot of the highway.

Announcing ATLANTIC
WHITE FLASH
PLUS for the Spring of 1935

An advanced motor fuel of outstanding quality—designed to take full advantage of the greatly increased power and performance built into today's automobiles.

JUST look back for a moment at the cars of 1930, and compare them with the precision-built, high-speed automobiles of today.

Compression ratios averaged 4.8 to 1 in 1930. Today they average 6.2 to 1 . . . giving cars much more power and acceleration, but at the same time causing greater tendency to "knock."

Adding the PLUS to WHITE FLASH

By the addition of lead (tetraethyl) and improved refining, ATLANTIC increased the anti-knock rating of WHITE FLASH so greatly that you can use it in most high-compression engines without detonation ("knock") . . . yet this PLUS-fuel still sells at regular gasoline price.

A Fuel That Will Go 200 Miles an Hour

Top driving speeds in 1930 averaged about 65 miles an hour. Today they are over 80!

We have designed ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH PLUS to take you 200 miles an hour, when cars are built to go that fast and still stay on the ground.

The average maximum horsepower of automobiles in 1930 was 57. Today it is 100. Engine speeds at maximum power have increased from an average of 3020 revolutions per minute in 1930 to 3600 revolutions today.

ATLANTIC aided this great development by providing a fuel that would vaporize easily, rapidly and economically at high engine speeds.

All these improvements have cost money, of course. But ATLANTIC has never hesitated to do anything that would result in a better product, or better value for its customers.

STAMP NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE

BY JOHNRAE EARL, SEC. NEW CASTLE STAMP CLUB.

The announcement by Postmaster General Farley that there is to be no presidential series of regular postage stamps issued this year will be good news to dealers and collectors throughout the country whose bank account have been greatly depleted through purchase of the various commemorative issues and special stamps already placed on the market. While it has been the policy of the department to revise the regular issues of postage stamps every eleven years, no such change has taken place since the 1922-23 revision. Another one is overdue, therefore.

But now comes the suggestion that instead of a revision of the regular issues of stamps the Post Office Department may act favorably on the large number of requests for the issuance of special stamps commemorating the anniversaries of dates on which various states were settled or admitted into the union. Some states already have been recognized in this way. Others such as Texas, Michigan and Arkansas, have anniversaries coming within the next year or two. Claims of one state, it is argued, cannot be taken care of without the desires of other commonwealth being respected.

It is more than probably, therefore, that the present administration of the Post Office Department will grant as many requests as possible from states that are clamoring for anniversary stamps. Such action, it is believed, would preclude the possibility of any general overhauling of the prevailing issues of regular postage stamps.

San Diego Stamp

It is more than probable that the design for the coming San Diego exposition stamp, due to make its appearance on May 29, next, will contain an airview of the exposition city and its harbor. This is the suggestion that has been made by Senator W. G. McAdoo of California, and he is expected to furnish the necessary air view to the Post Office Department, from which the die will be made at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Connecticut Stamp

Collectors are waiting patiently for Friday and Saturday of this week when the new Connecticut Tercentenary stamps will be placed on sale. On Friday they will be placed on sale at Hartford, Connecticut, and Saturday at the Philatelic agency in Washington. I am planning on being in Washington on Saturday in order to secure these new stamps for those collectors who desire them.

Manchukuo Stamps Are "Nameless"

The new special issue of stamps of Manchukuo is of unusual interest. These stamps are of 2, 4, 8 and 12-fen denominations. They are among the few stamps in the world to be issued that contain no mention of the country of issue. These stamps are for mail originating in Manchukuo and destined for China through the Great Wall, either at Shanahaikwan, the border city, where the wall meets the sea, or at Kupeikow nearer Peiping.

It will be recalled that when Manchukuo was declared independent, the postal service between the new state and China was considerably upset. China resented the establishment of the new state and did not care to continue with its communications with Manchuria. By reason of this condition mail from the north of the Great Wall bearing Manchukuo stamps was regarded as being in the same class as mail without any stamps. Thus the addressee in China had to pay a double postage rate to receive his mail of Manchurian origin.

Hugh Clark of the Scott Stamp and Coin company, says that the imperforate and ungummed sheets of March 15 will be given a distinct listing as special issues.

Postmaster General James A. Farley is quoted as saying at the opening of the Nyack (N. Y.) Hobby show that no more of the imperforate and ungummed sheets would be printed.

New Canadian Ruling

The Canadian Postoffice Department has issued a bulletin to the effect that employes who are stamp collectors cannot be permitted to make undue use of their office or their contacts within the service to obtain, create and manipulate items likely to be of special philatelic interest. It defines such items as stamps, postmarks, cachets and obliterations which would otherwise be unprocurable.

This is going to be my last appeal to you fellow collectors to write to your representatives in Washington urging support of the new "stamp illustration law" which is now before the House of Representatives. This will, if passed, enable United States stamps to be pictured in the Standard catalog, papers, price lists, etc. The passage of this bill will mean much to all collectors and I am asking you to drop a letter to your representative urging support. Every letter counts and it will only take a few minutes of your time to write the letter.

Will Answer Questions

I will be pleased to answer any of your questions regarding stamp collecting. If you have any that you would like answered address your communication to me in care of The News and either mail or drop it into The News Office. Please enclose return postage for your answer.

Alaska's population of Indians and Eskimos is estimated at 30,500, compared with a white population of 29,500.

Doomed Slayer Is Baptized In Uniontown Jail

John Koziar Immersed In Concrete Bathtub In Uniontown, Pa., Jail

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 26.—Attired in an old blue shirt, baggy trousers and socks from which his toes peeked, John W. Koziar, 32, condemned slayer, was baptized in Fayette county jail.

Today Koziar said he "felt better" after his immersion in an old concrete bathtub in rites attended by solemnity and much dignity. The slayer is scheduled to die for the shooting of Samson Rosenshein, Masontown jeweler, during an attempted holdup.

The ceremony was attended by John Heimick, who said Koziar had once held him up in an alley and robbed him of 42 watches. Heimick said he forgave Koziar and spoke kindly to him.

Rev. Floyd Sibert conducted the immersion rites. Koziar stepped into the old tub, which formerly had been used by prisoners before modern plumbing was installed. He went down on his knees and was dipped three times. Then he returned to his cell.

Miss Sally Simpson, U. S. A., MAin 1935

The modern American girl—of course she will live longer than a woman of any former generation, according to dull statistics. But there is something even more important to her than statistics. That is her chance of enjoying a life free from drudgery!

Over our entire land one out of two girls of high school age attend school. While in Europe, only one out of ten have that privilege. Compared to her foreign cousin, Miss Sally Simpson, U. S. A., has great fortune as her birthright.

For example, Miss Sally Simpson, U. S. A., has a far greater chance of living in a home with running water. After a busy day of play or work she may seek relaxation in the bathtub, known the world over as the American luxury. And when the Boy Friend wants a date he has almost one in two chances of reaching her by telephone. For Miss Sally Simpson, in any other country, the convenience of a home telephone is limited to one in eight.

In America this young lady has one in one-and-a-half chances of enjoying the use of an automobile. But her most fortunate foreign cousin has to be content with less than one automobile to every six families.

Miss Sally Simpson, U. S. A., may find two thirds of the homes provided with electric devices. Her foreign cousin can have only one such opportunity in five. If her party dress needs a hasty pressing, 97 per cent of American wired homes possess electric irons. Of the wired homes in the next nearest foreign country only 41 per cent have electric irons.

Merchants and manufacturers are all suitors of Miss Sally Simpson, U. S. A. Her modern and sensible tastes alter styles and bring innovations more certainly than the whims of royal princesses in days gone-by. Then, only girls born to the purple had even one-tenth the luxuries which Miss Sally Simpson, U. S. A., can count part of her everyday life.

She has her favorite lipsticks and powders, her favorite silk stockings and attractive clothes, her favorite shopping places. Her word bears weight in family decisions on purchases of household conveniences, automobiles or vacation trips. She has a decided liking for newspaper advertising as a reliable source of what and where to buy.

In a land where freedom of choice gives such unusual opportunities to Miss Sally Simpson, it is not surprising that she is held in more esteem than elsewhere. She may not be born to the purple in the old-time sense. Even so, bath tubs and bath soap, smart clothes and countless sundry commodities are the American equivalent to purple robes.

Yet, without the popular demand created by advertising, all these things would be as unheard of here as they are to so many of her foreign cousins. Miss Sally Simpson's reliance on American advertising, more than any other force, has given her all the things which make life so full and so pleasant.

Unidentified Middle-Aged Man Is Found Shot To Death In Parked Auto

WRENTHAM, Mass., April 26.—Shot through the head, the body of a middle-aged, well dressed man was found today on the back seat of a new Rhode Island registered automobile parked on a lonely wood road leading to Lake Pearl. Blood stains were spattered across the front seat. The weapon was missing.

Chief of Police Perley Dexter notified state police and a squad of detectives arrived at the scene to take photographs and fingerprints.

Legislative Committee Hears Mrs. Lloyd Miller Move For Decentralization

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 26.—Decentralization of the Pennsylvania relief system was recommended here today by Mrs. Floyd Miller, who appeared for the legislative committee probing relief administration in Greene and Washington counties.

Mrs. Miller, vice-chairman of the volunteer relief organization, a body that handled all relief in Greene county before it was taken over by the state, made various suggestions as to how she believed relief should be handled and submitted figures to support her testimony.

She suggested that relief work be taken from the state and turned over to some organization, such as the volunteer group which served Greene county without pay.

Switching her testimony to another phase of the problem, the witness criticized state investigators who she believed to be "too young, and not well enough informed on matters pertaining to relief." She said there were only 2,800 families on relief in this county before the state assumed control.

GENEVA — Tiny Switzerland, hemmed in by Germany, France and Italy, is gravely preoccupied over the tense European situation.

Not content with relying on her mighty mountains and her sharp-shooting militiamen to defend her, the Federal Government at Berne, is considering the unprecedented step of naming a generalissimo of the Swiss Army in peace-time. This measure would require special legislation, but in the opinion of competent Swiss military authorities is necessary to coordinate the defensive preparations of this sturdy nation of 4,000,000.

Upon present laws, Switzerland, or the Helvetic confederation, can have a general-in-chief only in time of war. The last to hold that rank was the late General Ulrich Wille of Berne. Most of the Swiss regiments remained mobilized for the whole period of the war.

Bones Against Him

Bones found at home of Dr. H. E. Zimmerly (above), Lancaster, Pa., physician, were identified by pathologists as those of a woman, and district attorney believes they are those of Mrs. Gladys Lawson (inset), 26, of Calvert, Md., who disappeared after she allegedly underwent an illegal operation. Zimmerly denies killing her.

Someone stole the front wheel off a bicycle in the Royston garage, Clenmore boulevard.

Mae's Trying to Deny This, Too

Not that it matters much, but here's further proof of Frank Wallace's assertion he was married to Mae West, who denies it, in Milwaukee in 1911. Page from police record made at time she was convicted and sent to prison in New York on morals charge, indicates she answered "yes" to question of whether she was married; and photo above, made in Minneapolis in 1911, shows Mae and Wallace (center) with Mae's brother in pose typical of that day's honeymoon couples.

CONVICT 19 FOR TROUBLE IN McKEESPORT

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 26.—Nineteen defendants were convicted and two were acquitted here today in connection with disturbances resulting from alleged communistic activities, in McKeesport last September.

Four—Carolyn Hart, Mrs. Mary Alexander, George Alexander and Gus Safis—were found guilty of rioting and inciting to riot. The others were convicted on only one count, inciting to riot.

Miss Hart, 22, and Alexander, 18-year-old high school student, had chained themselves to posts in the business district so they could speak without forcibly being removed by police.

Ted Cole was found not guilty on a charge of rioting and Joseph Deflaris was acquitted on instructions of Judge J. Frank Graff.

During the trial, Prosecutor Russell Adams charged 5,000 persons were endangered when members of the Young Communist League endeavored to stage a mass meeting in McKeesport without a permit.

NEW CASTLE HIGH FOOTBALL TEAM TO PLAY ALIQUIPPA HIGH ELEVEN

First Spring Grid Battle Tonight To Test Local Eleven

Many New Faces On Team This Year, Aliquippa Strong Team

LIGHTS AT Taggart stadium will shine tonight for the first time since last October. The occasion is the first of three spring football games carded for New Castle high "Red Hurricane" by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner. The opposition will be provided by Aliquippa high school. The kick-off is scheduled for 8:15 o'clock. The stands will no doubt be jammed for the inaugural of the spring program.

The fans are anxiously awaiting the kickoff tonight. There is a lot of speculation in town as to just what kind of a team New Castle high will have this year without the Raskowski boy, the Shelloggs, Fleming and others. The answer comes tonight.

Many New Faces.

New Castle high will present many new faces on the team tonight. The backfield will have Cabas at quarter, with Mumford and Cox at the halves, both of these boys are veterans of last year, with "Gobby" DeCaprio at the fullback post. Stanley Kominic is contesting with DeCaprio for the honor of holding down the fullback job and will probably see action tonight. Donegan and Mort, the "pint-sized" haifbacks from George Washington junior high, are anxious to make the team this year and may get chances in the backfield before the game is over.

The line will have Tuscano and Paul Small at the ends, the latter was a guard reserve last year and was converted this year into an end. He is well acquainted with the end job, having played end at Franklin high under Gillaspie. The guard jobs will be in the hands of Harvey Babich is a veteran end and Wosotowsky is a veteran guard.

Lippe Confident.

Reports from the valley indicate that Aliquippa is coming here tonight with the expectations of being in the game every minute of the time and of giving the New Castle boys a first class shellacking. New Castle won the last time these two schools met by a score of 13 to 2.

"You can bet that my team is going to play rings around New Castle Friday night," said Coach Lippe to Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner in Aliquippa the other evening. Lippe actually believes that the Steelers have a chance to upset the New Castle "Red Hurricane" applecart.

Taggart Field Dressed Up.

Taggart stadium will look like a big league park tonight. Everything is in readiness for the battle. The grassy field presents a beautiful picture. The lights have been renovated and painted up. The press box has undergone repairs. The goal posts have been painted a brighter white. The scoreboard has been fixed up.

But, the biggest improvement is the modern up-to-the-minute team room used by the New Castle boys, with every convenience imaginable and shower baths if you please with pink shaded tile with black borders (ho hum).

New Castle high now boasts of a dressing room and team room second to none in western Pennsylvania. Then in addition the band will use the roof of the team room at the northern end of the field. There is a lovely archway with a big double iron gate.

Expect Big Crowd.

The fans will marvel at the improvements. It makes Taggart stadium look like the real thing.

Well, when Referee D. "Wilson" Merriman blows the whistle to start the proceedings tonight the fans will stand enmasse and applaud the New Castle high "Red Hurricane" team. Show the boys that their efforts in the hot sun are appreciated.

All roads and lanes will lead to Taggaft stadium tonight. Aliquippa will send more than 1,000 fans to the game in event of good weather. Kentucky can have its Derby race, but give New Castle fans the good old football game.

How To Enter Taggart Field

High School students will enter main gate in middle of concrete stand on DuShane street instead of north gate.

General admission tickets will enter Cunningham avenue and South gate near Franklin High just south of concrete stand.

Children under 12 years of age, at the Division street gate.

Press passes and complimentaries will enter the main gate this year in the middle of the concrete stand, instead of the south gate as heretofore.

All Stadium reserved seat ticket holders will use main gate on DuShane street.

Find out which gate you enter and avoid confusion at the field.

Jokinen and either Louis George or Louis Leonard.

Adamo At Center.

At center again will be "Blackie" Adamo, and the pivot job will be well taken care of no doubt, as this boy in his first year proved a sensation not only on offensive but on defense as well, making tackle after tackle in tough games. Adamo was used at guard this year until James Howley was injured, and then shifted back to center again.

The tackles will be taken care of by Frank Crisci and Charles Probst, a couple of "big boys" who have shown a world of stuff in practice.

Taking the team all in all, this year, it is better one than last year as regards spirit, fight and determination. The boys want to win, and with that spirit they will probably get some place.

Aliquippa Strong Team.

Coach Nate Lippe will send an Aliquippa high eleven here that is one of the strongest that has ever represented the valley school. Last year Aliquippa high lost but one game and that was to Ambridge. This year with such boys as Frank Gnup, one of the classiest backs in the valley, on the roster the "Quippians" will be a serious threat for New Castle. Walker, a fleet-footed colored halfback, will also cause the locals a few headaches.

On the line Coach Lippe will present Hribar, a veteran lineman and ranked as the best in the Beaver valley. It is possible that Hribar will be used as a fullback this year and also on the line part of the time. Antonucci and Todora are two other classy linemen with the "Quips".

Twelve Teams Represented In City Golf League

Additional Teams Given Until May 1, To Take Out Franchise In League

At the final organization meeting of the New Castle Golf league, held at the Muny course clubhouse last evening, twelve teams were represented, and unless other teams make application for a franchise prior to May 1, this number will comprise the league.

Teams which have asked for a berth in the league are: Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania R. R., Gersons, Hardware Merchants, East Side Service, Rieck-McJunkin, Johnson Bronze, Conn's Market, Shenango Works, Blair Strip Steel, Reynolds, Summers and McCann, and New Castle News.

There is room for two additional teams in the league, and if any teams wish to enter, they must make application to President Arnold Frazier, or Secretary William Twaddle, before May 1, as the schedule will be drawn up at that time, the season opening on May 9.

Rules for the conduct of the league were approved by the team representatives at the meeting last evening, no important changes being noted except that all players who do not have a handicap, must play three nine-hole games and report their attested score to the league officials prior to the opening of the league.

Penn Relays To Commence Today

More Than 2,000 Athletes Will Take Part In Annual Penn Relays In Two Days

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, April 26—The ancient order of baton passers will have their innings today and tomorrow when the University of Pennsylvania stages its 41st annual relay carnival at Franklin Field.

Some 500 colleges, prep, high, Junior high, grammar and parochial schools will set more than 2,000 athletes to take part in 82 scheduled events. All but a mere dozen are relays and there will be more than 60 teams in some of the events.

Glenn Cunningham and Bill Bonthron will not be on hand to stage another mile of the century but there will be so many other champions, near champions and embryonic champions on hand, the two super-milers will not be missed.

Big Entry List

Every section of the country except the far west will be represented and some colleges are sending teams for the first time.

Most of the events are wide open and it would be a foolhardy seer who would dare to predict the outcome. However, it is known that Manhattan College will be powerful in the distance relays: that Maine, Boston College, Manhattan and Michigan State figure close in the two-mile relay; that Columbia, because of Ben Johnson at anchor carries a slight edge in the sprint relay: that New York University, Cornell and Louisiana State are strong in the shuttle event and that the mile race is like Joe Brown's grin—wide open.

Penn cannot be overlooked with Gene Venzke running anchor legs in the distance medley and two-mile relays. Gene may not be able to take Glenn Cunningham but he can spot any other lad now in college five seconds and beat him. Therefore if he is not too far behind when he gets the baton he may bring old Penn down in front.

Event No. 1 is carded for 2:15 this afternoon and the final event for 5:10 tomorrow afternoon. In between those times we should see some great hoofing.

Dodgers Playing "Heads-Up" Ball

Manager Casey Stengel Doesn't Know What To Make Of His Brooklynites

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 26.—With his Dodgers still leading the National League today, the usually talkative sassy Stengel is roving around like a sleepwalker. He acts like the hobo who found a thousand dollar bill and was afraid to try to change it for fear it might be a phoney.

"They're hot right now," was all Casey would say, "and a hot club sometimes forgets to cool off. If my pitching holds up, we'll stay hot for outside the box we're a hundred per cent stronger than we were."

Jimmy Wilson, the Philly pilot, is even stronger for the Dodgers than Stengel is. "If the Dodgers had the Giants' pitching, the Dodgers would breeze home,' says Jimmy. You can forget the Cardinals and Cubs and Pirates. The Giants are the team to beat and if Stengel can dig up another first class pitcher somewhere, he'll make things interesting even for the Giants."

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Officials of the Lawrence County Baseball league today stated that as Jim Martin, schedule-maker, would be unable to complete a draft of the games by Sunday there will be no meeting of the league until 7:30 p. m. Tuesday night. There are 10 clubs in the league. Several times Martin has had to revamp the schedule due to the board of managers voting franchises. When the loop started this season indications were eight teams would be in the league. Carbon made the ninth member, and when Ryantown was selected, the roster was boosted to 10.

Eddie Zivic of Pittsburgh, did not make the grade last night when he milled with Tony Canzoneri, former lightweight champion of the world, in a Pittsburgh ring. The referee stopped the fight in the seventh to save the Pittsburgher. Eddie appeared to have a chance in the first three rounds, but after that it was a question of only how long Zivic could last. Zivic slugged with Tony in the fourth and was wobbly on his pins when the round ended. Canzoneri dropped Zivic twice for counts of eight in the sixth, and when Zivic took several blows without a return in the seventh, Referee Red Robinson stopped the bout.

Fight fans throughout the world will be pleased to learn that Sam Langford, known a score years ago as Boston's Tar Baby, and whom in his day was one of the greatest heavyweight fighters the world has had, can see again. Sam lost the sight of one eye after he received a blow from Fred Fulton. About five years ago he lost the sight of his other eye, but thanks to the efforts of a New York physician the Bostonian can now see. Blindness has been the bugaboo of fighters for many, many years. Joe Shurgue was blinded by a glove lace and Pete Herman, a former bantamweight champ, is blind. Terry Mitchell, who once fought under the banner of Jimmie Dime, received an injury that blinded him for a time and there are many other boxers who have received injuries that affected their eyesight. News that Sam's eyesight has been restored will be especially pleasing here where he was known. Years ago Langford fought and won from Tom McMahon in a California bout. Tom was one of the few fighters who floored Sam. However, Langford got up from the floor and rolled McMahon and the referee stopped the fight, in the fifth or sixth round if recollection serves correctly.

Drake Relays Start Today

Over 3,000 Young Mid-West Athletes Gather At Des Moines For Annual Meet

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(International News Service Sports Writer)

DES MOINES, Ia., April 26.—Three thousand track and field athletes, among them a potential record-breaker in every event but one, opened the twenty-sixth annual Drake relays today.

Old-timers such as Maj. John L. Griffith, who founded the meet, and Coach Hank Schulte of Nebraska, who has attended 22 of them, were ready to argue there is not a more formidable list of track meet records in the country.

Yet, with the exception of the shot put, each event had at least one entry credited with a better time, height or distance than the existing Drake mark. Chances appeared bright for the hosting of one or two world records as the stars swing into action for the annual games.

Among the brightest of the individual on hand were Jesse Owens, the Ohio State negro, and Glen Cunningham, the world champion miler late of Kansas. Owens is counted on for record performances in the 100-yard dash and the broad jump.

Besides ironing out an old grude with Glenn Dawson, the Oklahoma star who has twice beaten him, Cunningham hoped to nip the world's record of 3:00.6 in the three-quarter mile.

Tony Canzoneri Defeats Zivic

Former Champion Administers Terrific Beating To Pittsburgh Boy

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 26.—Tony Canzoneri, former champion, today had administered a licking to Eddie Zivic, local lightweight, and it didn't take much effort to do it. The bout was stopped early in the seventh round to save Eddie from further punishment.

During the first three rounds Eddie thought he had a chance but fans thought Canzoneri carried him for the next three until the crushing climax. Eddie took two eight-counts in the sixth round.

In an eight-round semi-final bout, Shuck Woods, Detroit lightweight, scored a split decision over Mike Barto, New Kensington. Both fighters weary and leg-worn, bore cuts on the face when they left the ring.

Tiger Joe Randall, Elizabeth, took a unanimous decision over Frankie Hughes, Terre Haute, in another eight-rounder. Jimmy Gilligan decisioned Sammy Paris in the four-round curtain-raiser. Ralph Gizzy won a decision over Billy Cohn in the second four-round event.

Soviet Russia expects its output of gold to lead that of South Africa within the next two years, making it the world's leading producer of the yellow metal.

The league will open next Thursday night at Castle Hills course at 6 o'clock with five matches being played. There are ten teams in the league this year. President John B. "Jack" Waddington will preside over the meeting Saturday night. There is considerable interest in the golf league this year.

Pitt Professor Scores Athletics

"No Such Thing As Amateur In College Athletics," Says Professor Tyson

By FRANCIS F. HEALY
(International News Service Sports Writer)

PITTSBURGH, April 26.—There was no proverbial "storm of protest" at the University of Pittsburgh today over Dr. Francis D. Tyson's announcement that there is no such thing as an amateur in college athletics and all of them are really professionals.

In fact, there was only a gentle zephyr as an aftermath with heads and coaches of the institution warily sidestepping the issue. From some professors Dr. Tyson received partial support; from others a well-known, "I don't care to discuss it," attitude. Still other members of the higher learning moduls said Dr. Tyson was wrong.

Stick To Economics

As an economics professor, they as much as said, Dr. Tyson should stick to economics and let athletics alone. Dr. Tyson said he didn't care—that it was his opinion athletes worked for the university, brought in big gate receipts and hence should be paid.

John B. (Jock) Sutherland, gridiron coach at Pitt, grumbled good-naturedly and remarked that "Dr. Tyson was trying to apply a new theory of economics to football."

"Economics and football don't mix," he said, taking exception to Dr. Tyson's statement there was "too much hysteria over football."

John Weber, business manager of the university, thought the idea of paying athletes had some excellent points.

Many Limitations

"But there would have to be many limitations," he added cautiously. "There might be abuses involved."

Dr. Tyson was a trifle indignant: "There are no abuses involved in awarding degrees to scholars. Why not award degrees to athletes?

"Anyway, a university today is more of a fraternal organization than an institution of learning."

At first we doubt it; then we think it a great truth; and at last, being used to it, we call it a platitude.

NEW YORK, April 26.—For seven and one-third innings over at Ebbets Field yesterday, old man destiny rode on every ball sent winging its merry way plate-ward from the mound occupied by the Dodgers' young change-of-pace-artist, Johnny Babich.

Philadelphia's Phils stepped up to the dusty Ebbets Field pan one by one to wave senselessly at Johnny's offerings, and for the said seven and one-half frames, sat right down aagin.

Allows One Hit

Then lo! a Philistine appeared in the person of Mike Haslin, a utility infielder, who sent a single bouncing over the greensward just out of reach of Linus Frey. It was the only hit of the game for the Phils, and holding any big-time outfit to only one hit, even the Phils, is no mean accomplishment for a youngster in his second year up. Meanwhile the Dodgers mauled the ball freely to garner 12 hits, shading the Pennsylvania pushovers 6 to 0. Joe Stripp featured the Brooklyn attack, hitting safely four times in four trips to the plate.

Wilshire In Shape

Another new-comer, Lefty Wilshire, Philadelphia Athletics rookie, saw the phantom form of undying glory approach within flirting distance when he held the Washington Senators hitless for six innings, only to see the roseate dream die when Fred Sington and Lyn Lary, ex-Yankee infielder, reach him for singles in the seventh, making the only two Senator hits of the game. The A's won 10-0, however, and even a Dean doesn't get a shut-out every day.

At the Polo Grounds, "Tarzan" Parmelee was also stingy with hits, yielding only three, one of which was a four-sacker by Wally Berger, Boston Brave center fielder. Aided by Mel Ott's third homer of the year, Parmelee won out for the New York Giants, 2 to 1.

Pirates Defeated

Benny Frey, Cincinnati hurler, handed the Pittsburgh Pirates a coat of whitewash, shutting them out 6 to 0, and allowing only six hits. Alex Kampouris helped him chalk up the victory driving in three Cincinnati runs, while the second baseman himself scored three more.

A couple of days ago Dizzy Dean went to the mound late in the game to save the cause of the Cardinals. He had his ears pinned back and was charged with the defeat. Yesterday Paul, the St. Louis star's younger brother suffered a similar fate when he went in in the eighth and yielded a run, before retiring in favor of Heusser. The Chicago Cubs aided by Chuck Klein's homer in the fifth with two on base, beat the Cards 7 to 5.

Indians Win

The Chicago White Sox humbled Schoolboy Rowe, Detroit Tiger ace, pounding out nine hits and as many runs to defeat the American League champions 9 to 8 for the third successive time.

Hal Trosky's homer in the seventh with Earl Averill on base gave the Cleveland Indians a 7 to 6 win over the St. Louis Browns. The four sacker came when the Indians were a run behind. Sam West of the Browns hit a homer with all the stations occupied.

The New York Yankees pounded five Boston pitchers for 12 hits, and with the help of three errors by Bill Werber, Red Sox third baseman, won out 12 to 4, to even the opening hub series. Despite yesterday's barrage, no Yankee is among the first 15 in American League batting.

Correct this sentence: "Style or no style," said she. "I won't try to change myself if it means risking my health."

HOW TO JUMP AND HOW NOT TO

Making a graceful arch, big gray Jane Grey takes a water jump in fine style, but Littlejohn and his rider were not so fortunate in a novice class race near Towcester, England.

CHATTERING SHORTSTOPS

When the New York Giants purchased Dick Bartell from Philadelphia, they landed more than a good fielder and consistent hitter. They bought the spark plug of the National league, a shortstop who spouts off at the mouth from the first to the last pitch of every ball game.

Chattering shortstops seem to be very valuable assets, especially in the senior circuit. Bill Terry and his Giants won the 1933 pennant and world's series with Blondy Ryan playing short. The St. Louis Cardinals won the world's championship last year with Lippy Leo Durocher performing between second and third.

Pep, chatter, dash and color apparently play a very important part in the success of both of these men since they lack hitting ability entirely. In 1933 Ryan was considered one of the stars of the game, while Durocher last seeason captained the Cardinals in addition to playing short for St. Louis in all but eight of the games.

Next to Hubbell and Terry, Ryan received more publicity than any man on the 1933 champion Giants. Yet there were five shortstops in the league ahead of Blondy in fielding, and as a hitter he couldn't bust a balloon with a shillalah.

In spite of weak hitting and only average fielding, the former Holy Cross athlete proved to be the tonic needed by the Giants to pep them up for the pennant drive. Fans spent hours talking about a boastful telegram sent by Blondy to his manager, while his double-play raps, strike outs, and easy rollers were all forgotten.

Last season Noisy Durocher duplicated Ryan's performance. He expressed himself loudly and frequently in words although his bat was silent a great part of the time. Lippy Leo batted only .260 and finished below English, Jurges and Urbanski in fielding, but he talked a great game for the entire infield.

It is now up to Dick Bartell to continue the magical spell of chattering shortstops. Dick can hit better than either Ryan or Durocher and his gift of gab is every bit as good so maybe he'll talk enough to convince the aging Terry, Critz, Fitzsimmons and Jackson that they can carry on at least through the present campaign.

The Giants have had good ball players since Terry has been the manager but they have never been overly supplied with color and glamour. They have Hubbell and Terry, and they had Blondy Ryan, yes, but that doesn't compare with many other championship clubs of the past in regard to color. Two or three colorful players don't always make an entire team glamourous.

Ott is a great player, for instance, but he is not a colorful player. The veterans, Jackson and Critz, also need a youth to perform between them to instill the fire and dash of combat. No one can fill the bill better than the cocky, effervescent and youthful Bartell. He will add a little of the same kind of asset that the Cards have aplenty in the persons of Diz, Daz, Pepper, Ducky, Lippy and the Fordham Flash.

Capacity Crowd Delighted With Senior Hi Play

Cast Of Nine Gives Notable Characterization At Lincoln Auditorium

ELLWOOD CITY, April 26.—Evidently the public did not consider advance predictions of the Senior class play, "The Family Upstairs," as mere idle words, for Lincoln auditorium was filled to capacity Thursday evening. Judging from the continual burst of laughter, and applause between acts, it was a most profitable and enjoyable two hours spent.

There was no exaggeration when person after person proclaimed it was one of the best amateur productions seen here. There was not one dull moment in the play from the time the curtain went up. The cast of nine covered themselves with glory with their characterizations. The production is another feather in the caps of Arthur D. Webster and Miss Beatrice Brunton, factulty members, who were the directors and largely responsible for its success.

The play was fast moving and replete with humorous incidents and typical family situations. The plot was based around the efforts of the Heller family, especially mother, to marry off their eldest daughter, Louise. The family was certainly worried when Louise had reached the age of 21 and still had no steady beau. When finally a gentleman friend did call Mother Heller went out of her way to make a deep impression on this prospect by telling a few little "white lies." It so happened that Louise was secretly engaged to this gentlemen. Charles Grant, a clerk in the bank, and mothers efforts to sell her daughter and family completely gummed up the works. Father Heller finally put his foot down on such tactics and ordered his wife and the entire family to shut up while he straightened out the situation, and which he successfully did by telling the truth.

Who would think that the lovely June McBride was a dignified Senior about to graduate, after watching her portrayal of Annabelle, the baby sister. She was the typical kid, reluctant to do errands or practice her piano lessons. And just like kids caused some undue embarrassment to Louise and her family, when children should be seen and not heard.

Willie Heller, the red headed brother, played by Jack Liebendorfer, also was no prize package if you take the word of his dad. Willie quit school to go to work, but it seemed that he and "work" were not on speaking terms, for it was a waste of too much energy to read the want ads in the paper. He was at the dangerous age of 17 when all the world and the girls in it were his. Willie was aspiring to be a politician but had his mind changed by dad. Between Willie, dad, mother and baby sister, the audience was given no rest from laughing.

Miss Peggy Magee as Emma Heller played a remarkable role, as the hard working, dutiful, loving and ambitious mother. In the proper enviornment her actions would be like that of a Park avenue society woman when she was endeavoring to impress young Charles Grant.

Jack Steckman as Joe Heller, the father, delighted the audience with his characterization. He was a hard working father who loved his home and family and ruled them wisely and with an iron hand. There was no dilly dallying around when dad wanted something done.

Miss Ruth Croft as Louise Heller and Robert Liebendorfer as Charles Grant provided the romance for the play and were in the thick of the plot. Louise was a sensible girl of 21 who knew what she wanted and made it known to her family that she would live her own life. Charles Grant was impressive as an understanding young gentleman who was deeply in love with Louise.

Minor roles were played by Miss Louetta Nicholson as Miss Callahan, the dressmaker; Dorothy Bauer as Mrs. Grant; and Scott Richards as Herbert Grant.

The entire scene of the production took place in the apartment of the Heller family.

Between acts the high school orchestra played a few selections under the direction of Prof. Paul Winter.

After the show the cast, directors, and various committees held a party at the Kaufman Hotel in Zelienople.
